MacMillan Returns After "Three Months of Worst Summer Ever Known in Arctic."

Sydney, N. S., October 6.—(AP)—Donald B. MacMillan came out of the northland today after three months of "the worst summer known to men in the Arctic" and announced that he would return to Labrador next summer to search for evidences of the route the Norsemen were supposed to have taken in coming to New England.

MacMillan drove his little auxiliary schooner Bowdoin into Sydney and sailed away again in four hours to join the Peary, companion ship on his latest Arctic expedition, for the last leg of their journey to Wisconsin, Maine, MacMillan's home port.

The Peary and Bowdoin are expected to reach Monhegan Island, off the coast of Maine, by Friday evening. Saturday they will sail on to Wisconsin.

Rubin and Cherry Shows Here To Entertain Patrons of Fair

The midway at the Southeastern Fair grounds now present an animated appearance, the Rubin and Cherry shows, which will present the various rides and other attractions, arrived at noon, having come in on their own two-section train, numbering 45 cars, from Memphis, Tenn., where they have been appearing at the Tri-State fair in that city.

A small army of workmen has been busily engaged erecting the massive gold-carpeted show fronts, the acres of tents and the various riding devices. The shows now present a splendid appearance and have aroused many favorable comments because of their neatness and magnitude.

There are 25 high-class attractions and 12 of the latest riding devices for the amusement of the fair patrons. The Royal Midgits, seven

APPEAL IN DOHENY OIL CASE ARGUED

San Francisco, October 6.—(AP)—Argument in the double appeal of the government and the Edward L. Doheny oil interests from a decision of the United States district court in Los Angeles, annulling Doheny's leases on naval oil reserves in California with certain provisos that he be reimbursed, closed today in the United States circuit court of appeals.

Former United States Senator Atlee Pomerene, of Ohio, special government oil counsel, made the final argument. He described in detail the tender of $100,000 by Doheny to Albert Fall, while Fall was secretary of the interior, holding that such tender was in anticipation of certain concessions that Doheny wished to obtain from Fall in relation to the leasing of the naval oil lands. Senator Pomerene repeated the findings of the trial court that such tender was a "colossal infamy."

Final arguments by the government followed the conclusion of the presentation of contentions by counsel for Doheny, who endeavored to influence the court that cancellations of the leases and contracts should not be upheld. Frederick R. Kellogg, of New York, closed for the defense.

In arguing that the leases be restored to the government, Senator Pomerene repeatedly pointed to the decision of a federal judge McCormick, of Los Angeles.

Attorney Kellogg defended the $100,000 transaction between the oil magnate and Fall, holding that it was a personal loan between friends of long standing.

Heavy Fines Given Intoxicated Drivers In Recorder's Court

Heavy fines were imposed Tuesday in recorder's court on V. R. Chapman, 23, of 281 Fulton street, and Andy Campbell, 25, of 677 Lee street, on charge of operating automobiles while under the influence of liquor. Chapman was fined $75 and Campbell was assessed $71.

Declarations of police officials that persons who drove automobiles while intoxicated would be prosecuted to the fullest extent has resulted in unusually heavy fines during the past two or three days.

A City Recorder Callaway and Holway have served notice that offenders of this law will be given maximum fines in an effort to reduce traffic accidents and to make the streets safer for pedestrians.

MISSIONARIES IN CHINA PROTECTED SAY BISHOPS

New Orleans, La., October 6.—(AP) Protection of missionaries in China "as good as could be reasonably expected considering the disorderly condition of the Chinese republic," Bishop Frederick R. Graves, Logan, II, Root and Daniel T. Huntington all of the dioceses of the Episcopal church in China, declared today.

The statement of the bishops was issued to avoid any misunderstanding which may exist as to the protection which is afforded them in this country, it is asserted, under protection of the extra-territorial doctrine.

All the salaries and wages received in an entire year in America are estimated to total about $32,000,000,000.

TRAIN WRECK PROBED, SHOW HORSES UNHURT

A head-on collision between two freight trains of the Nashville, Chattanooga & St. Louis railroad between Bolton and Vining which resulted in the slight injury of six railroad employees and the death of 25 horses, was being probed Tuesday by special agents of the railroad company, under the direction of the superintendent.

Many horses entered in the horse show at Lakewood park this week were on the trains but were not hurt and will appear as scheduled.

The crash occurred about 2:30 o'clock Tuesday morning and officials advanced the theory that it was due to misunderstanding of orders by the train crews, as the trains should have passed at the end of the double track near Bolton.

The trainmen shaken up and slightly injured are Conductor William Lount and Engineer Thomas Gilstrap, in charge of the southbound train, and Engineer J. T. Alexander and Conductor F. G. Dover, in charge of the north bound train. Two firemen, whose names have not been learned, were also slightly hurt. Both engineers and firemen leaped from their cabs to safety just before the crash.

General Ballard, Henry Hobbie's great champion stallion, was one of the horses in the wreck, but escaped injury. Several other of the Hobbie stable were in the wreck but none was hurt sufficiently to prevent participation in the show.

All the plans for the big show are practically completed and the committee will hold a final meeting this afternoon to arrange the order of events for the first night.

The program for the first night,

Thursday calls for a class for boy riders under 16 years of age. They must show at least three gait, grand other class for the opening night is the saddle horse (open) which admits all mounts 15.2 hands and under.

Another class of particularly strong local interest is the hunter's class which is confined to Atlanta horses. There will be four three-foot jumps, with three trials only.

The fourth class of the program on opening night is for saddle horses open to all five-gaited stallions. This is one of the major events of the first night. Another event of the first night is the class for local saddle horses, three-gaited, all sexes.

The junior championship, the last class event of the first night, is one of the big features of the show. This is open to all five-gaited mares, geldings and stallions, four years old and under.

Then comes the fancy riding and jumping by the Sixth Cavalry troop. Vondetta, a trunk three gait, grand mare, has been trained down to a very fine point for her exhibition which probably will be given Friday night. This is the greatest show horse in the country and all the horsemen are particularly anxious to see it.

DR. W. S. WILSON BACK AT WEST END CHURCH

Dr. Willis S. Wilson, former pastor of West End Presbyterian church and now pastor of the Presbyterian church at Montreat, N. C., is in Atlanta for a few days and upon invitation of church officers will conduct the mayor service tonight in the West End Presbyterian church at 8 o'clock.

CONDITION OF BOY HURT IN WRECK STILL IS CRITICAL

With barely more than a fighting chance to live, Harold Kidd, 16-year-old employee of the Howard theater, lies in the Grady hospital from injuries received early yesterday when the automobile he was driving was wrecked against a telephone pole in Irwin street.

The escape of Clyde Fuller, 80 Clifton street, who was riding with Kidd, was regarded by police as little short of a miracle. Only a few minor cuts and bruises give evidence of his experience in the wreck.

The machine wrecked had been rented by Kidd from an agency. He left his home on Ransom street and drove by to get Fuller. They were driving west on Irwin street when a truck darted suddenly from a side street, forcing Kidd to steer his car sharply to his left to avoid a collision. As he turned the auto it almost overturned and struck the pole. Kidd was injured internally, surgeons, besides having suffered cuts and bruises.

PEACH TREE BEARS ITS SECOND CROP DURING ONE YEAR

Another of Dame Nature's freaks came to light Tuesday when ripe peaches from a tree which bore a full crop of normal-sized peaches in June were brought to The Constitution building by J. T. Stone, of 15 Sutherland drive.

Mr. Stone discovered the peaches at his former home in Green county. The place is now occupied by Mrs. Len McCommon, who said that the second crop of peaches was borne without a second blossoming. They appeared on the trees about the first of August and were ripe Sunday. The fruit was under the normal size, however, and lacked the flavor of earlier peaches.

MRS. LUCY CLARK DIES AT RESIDENCE HERE

Mrs. Lucy Clark, 65, beloved Atlanta woman, of 633 Ponce de Leon avenue, died Tuesday at the residence. She came to Atlanta nine years ago and was an active member of Druid Hills Baptist church.

She is survived by two sons, O. G. and J. H. Clark, of Atlanta, and three daughters, Mrs. Ada Crawford, Mrs. E. M. Sandwich, of Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Ida Warren, of Quitman, Georgia.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed late Tuesday night.

BURGLARY SUSPECTS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Robert Davis and Clarence Majors, two 16-year-old negro youths, were bound over Tuesday to Fulton county grand jury under $500 bonds each on charges of burglary.

The two negroes were arrested Monday in connection with the robbery of the Gulf Refining filling station on North Boulevard and Highland avenue.

POSTOFFICE CLERKS APPLY FOR CHARTER

Articles of incorporation under the credit union act have been filed by the Atlanta postal clerks at the office of S. G. McLeaud, secretary of state. The Atlanta postal clerks' union applied for a charter. The application was presented by John Martin, assistant postmaster of Atlanta.

YOUTH RUN DOWN NOT SERIOUSLY HURT

George B. Rakestraw, 15, of 683 Lee street, was slightly bruised when knocked from the bicycle he was riding Tuesday night by an automobile at Whitehall and Mitchell streets.

No case was made against W. J. Maddox, driver of the car, as the accident was declared unavoidable by police.

Henry Abel, 44, negro messenger, received bruises and cuts about the body Tuesday when his bicycle collided with a street car on Edgewood avenue, near the Hurt building.

MISSIONARY UNION TO MEET THIS WEEK

The Woman's Missionary union of the Atlanta Baptist association will hold its annual session today and Thursday with the Woman's Missionary society of the Grant Park church.

Addresses by Mrs. Idus Robertson, Miss Julia Allen and Mrs. A. F. McMahon will feature the meeting.

Thirteen American presidents have been United States senators.

Mitchell Will Be Center Of Battle at Convention Of American Legion Today

Effort Will Be Made To Pass Resolution of Indorsement of His Position in Air Fight.

Omaha, Neb., October 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—The American legion put aside business of its seventh annual convention here today to listen to an address by President Calvin Coolidge and to pass in review before him in a four-mile long, colorful spectacle, the legion's annual parade.

With departing of the chief executive at dusk this evening formalities and festivities also took their departure and the legionnaires plunged into serious consideration of several paramount problems confronting them.

One point seemed to have been taken care of today when the place and time committee announced it unanimously would recommend Philadelphia for the 1926 convention, with the time to be announced by the legion executive committee.

Mitchell Centers Gossip.
Hotel lobbies and state delegation headquarters thronged tonight with gossip concerning Colonel William Mitchell, the army critic of the nation's air service, and selection of the next national commander.

There seemed to be a determination in some quarters to prevent the Mitchell matter from getting to the floor of the convention and in another quarter determination equally as strong to have the legion give its unqualified indorsement to Colonel Mitchell.

The subcommittee on aeronautics, appointed to adopt recommendations to the whole committee, will make its report early tomorrow morning before the committee session opens.

Tonight it was indicated that the committee would be asked to adopt a resolution calling for a separate air service department, a plan similar to that advanced by Colonel Mitchell. It was understood, however, that the proposed resolution would not delve into personalities.

Many Addresses Today.
Virtually all of tomorrow's session will be given over to addresses by prominent army and navy men, and civilians with reports from three committees—constitutional, amendments, finance and world peace.

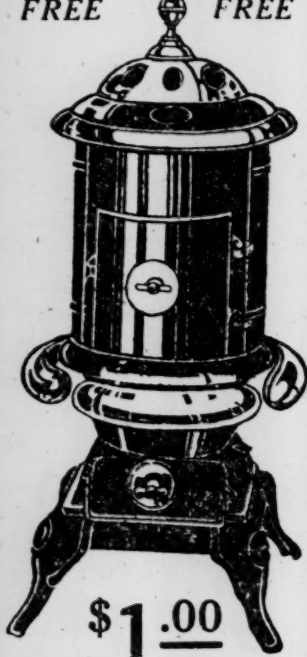

Included in the speakers will be John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross; Major General John A. Lejeune, commandant of the marine corps; Francis P. Matthews, Knights of Columbus; Admiral Robert E. Conant, U. S. N.; Major General Charles P. Summerall and Richard Henry Little, Chicago Tribune column conductor.

The most successful parade in the history of the American Legion was the comment of National Commander James A. Drain as the last organization in line, the Salvation Army, filed by the reviewing stands. It required two hours and forty minutes to pass.

ONE DEAD, 1 INJURED IN POWDER BLAST
Oakland, Calif., October 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—One man was killed and another was seriously injured in an explosion and fire that partially wrecked the plant of the Trojan Powder company at Robert, about 20 miles from here, shortly before noon today. The loss is about $3,500. Another workman was burned but is expected to recover.

LLOYD SENTENCED TO PRISON TERM

Jack Lloyd, white, operator of a business establishment at 41 Auburn avenue, indicted by a Fulton county grand jury on August 28 on three counts charging possession of concealed weapons, pointing a pistol at another and use of obscene language, and jointly indicted on two counts with W. M. Wolpert and a man designated as "Partner" on charges of assault with intent to rob and false imprisonment, was placed on trial Tuesday.

The first charge taken up by Judge G. H. Howard's division of Fulton superior court, in which he is being tried, was assault with intent to rob. Lloyd is being defended by Attorneys Bernard C. Appelle and Henry Belingrath, and Assistant Solicitor John H. Hudson is prosecuting the case for the state.

Lloyd was given a straight sentence of two years on the assault with intent to rob charge when he was found guilty by the jury.

Lloyd will be placed on trial today to answer the remaining charges.

He is alleged to have demanded of J. P. Bryan, an Atlanta insurance man, that he bring $500 to Lloyd's business address, adding that he would kill Bryan if he did not return with the money.

Bryan asserted that he went to Lloyd's establishment with L. D. Oglesby for the purpose of buying a sandwich and a soft drink.

"After Oglesby got his sandwich," Bryan asserted, "Lloyd called me to the back of the store and ordered me to bring him $500 after finding that I had no money on my person."

Lloyd is said to have issued orders to his confederates to let no one come into the store and to keep Oglesby in the front while he talked with Bryan.

Bryan immediately reported the incident to Solicitor Boykin, who detailed Investigator Bert Donaldson to accompany Bryan to Lloyd's establishment, where Lloyd was arrested.

"Put Atlanta On Your Pay Roll"

If you have not—don't wait to be asked.

You make out your pay roll every week—or every month—and you make it out to the men and women who help to make your business—your success—possible. Don't you?

Well, you owe just as much to Atlanta. This wonderful city, with her marvelous growth, her splendid climate, her generous people—make your business—your success—possible.

Do a small part, at least, by her. Help the busy, public-spirited men and women who are sacrificing their time and giving freely of their money to make Atlanta greater—to make Atlanta even more prosperous than ever—to bring in more people—to bring more factories and plants to this city—to make it possible for YOU to do more business and to put more people on your pay roll.

These men—the agencies behind this most laudable move to advertise Atlanta to the world—are doing all this—for what?

To help YOU.

You have never been called upon—you have never had the OPPORTUNITY—to do a greater service for your city than the one now presented.

Two hundred and fifty thousand dollars is a small amount to ask Atlanta to raise to be used in "Telling the world what Atlanta has to offer."

This money is to be spent wisely—judiciously—advantageously—by a commission composed of some of Atlanta's outstanding men—men who know how to spend money in the best way to get the best results—how to avoid waste and extravagance.

Every dollar invested in this campaign will bring immeasurable values back into our city.

Never has a campaign for Atlanta's benefit been launched that we contributed to with more pleasure than this one. We feel it is a privilege to be among this list of loyal Atlantans.

We measure our words when we say that if a man, woman or firm in this city is not interested in this campaign, then that man, woman or firm is not interested in Atlanta.

No city in the world has more things to be proud of than Atlanta. We here at home know this—BUT WE WANT THE WORLD TO KNOW IT.

ADVERTISING—the kind proposed with this $250,000—will do it. At least it will go a long way toward doing it.

We want the world to know Atlanta's progress has gone on uninterruptedly, and that she looks upon the great Florida development as a tremendous asset, and one that will sweep through Georgia, the Carolinas and Alabama.

When the people of America hear what we have to say about Atlanta through this advertising campaign they will know that greater progress than ever is beginning here. They will know that it is bound to come—and they will want to come here and share in it. AND THEY WILL COME.

Atlanta's resources—her opportunities—her advantages will be told in attractive form in the great newspapers of America and in some of the great magazines, on the billboards, and other ingenious ways.

Millions of Americans will for the first time learn of these things about Atlanta, and then will follow new citizens, new capital, new industries, into our city.

There will be increased activity in every walk of life.

And YOU will share in all of this prosperity—so

Evangelist Flays Keeping Sabbath In Stirring Sermon

To an audience that taxed the Church of Christ at 86 Kennedy street, Evangelist James A. Dennis Tuesday night delivered a stirring sermon on "It Is a Sin to Keep the Sabbath."

Quoting from the eighth chapter of Amos to illustrate the time God fixed when the Moses law and Sabbath observances would be abolished he read, "In that day I will send the sun down at noon and will darken the earth in a clear day."

"If one will look back and see when the sun went down at noon time and the earth was darkened on a clear day, you will find when the law and the Sabbath observances were suspended—and you will find that they came to an end with the crucifixion of Jesus Christ," the evangelist said.

His subject for tonight will be "Sanctification." O. L. Sawyer, pastor of the church, announced that adequate seating facilities to take care of the crowds would be arranged before the time of the meeting tonight, which will begin at 7:45 o'clock, instead of 7:30, as heretofore.

ASHEVILLE RAIDS 'BASEBALL POOLS.' NINE ARE JAILED

Asheville, N. C., October 6.—(By the Associated Press.)—Acting under directions of Solicitor J. Ed Swain, sheriff's deputies this afternoon conducted a wholesale roundup of alleged "baseball pool" operators which resulted in the arrest of nine persons on charges of conducting a lottery. They will be given a hearing before a magistrate Thursday morning. Each was released under bond in the sum of $200.

The penalty for operating a lottery in this state is a fine of not more than $2,000 or imprisonment for not more than six months, Solicitor Swain said.

"Well, girlie, how do you like teaching summer school?" "I'm a little afraid of my pupils. They watch me ominously. 'Well,' 'Am I violating the law in anything?'—Louisville Courier-Journal."

VASSAR STUDENT TAKES OWN LIFE

Body of Girl Found Hanging by Scarf in Clothes Press—Temporary Insanity Blamed.

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., October 6.—(AP)—The body of Miss Anna Frances Bailey, 21, senior at Vassar college, was found suspended by a scarf from a hook in the clothes press of her room at main building today. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen A. Bailey, of Cleveland, Ohio.

and found in her room gave no hint as to the reason for the girl's death, it was said tonight at the college.

Miss Bailey had been prominent at the college on account of her literary work, particularly in poetry. Dr. Henry N. MacCracken, president of the college, said tonight her poems "showed ability of no common order."

No adequate reason has been suggested for the act but it is believed that temporary insanity was responsible, Dr. MacCracken said.

CORPORATION FIGHTS "BOOTLEG" GASOLINE

New York, October 6.—(AP)—The Tidewater Oil Sales corporation today announced that hereafter all of its pumps and filling stations will be sealed to prevent the sale of "bootleg" gasoline. F. H. Dickson, vice president, said that an investigation revealed that more than 6,000,000 gallons of the substitute had been sold through the company's pumps at the price charged for good gasoline.

He also said that the pumps had been removed from more than 600 filling stations in this city following an investigation of dealers.

A., T. & N. ASKS PERMIT TO BUILD EXTENSION

Washington, October 6.—(AP)—The Alabama, Tennessee and Northern railroad today asked the interstate commerce commission to allow it to build 78 miles of new line in Alabama. The road proposed to construct 32 miles of the extension from Reform to Glen Allen, a point on the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad in Fayette county, and to build north-easterly from there to connect with the Illinois Central and the Northern of Alabama railroad near Haleyville, all in Alabama.

The transportation facilities available for residents of Pickens county, Alabama, would be greatly bettered by the construction, the application said, in that it would give them direct connections with Mobile and would give their products access to the Southern, Frisco and Illinois Central systems. Traffic in sight, made up of agricultural products, coal and timber resources, are adequate to support the projected extensions.

GOLUCKE FUNERAL TO BE HELD TODAY

Final Services for Taliaferro County Representative in Legislature To Be Held This Morning.

Crawfordville, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)—Funeral services for Alvin G. Golucke, 42, representative from Taliaferro county in the Georgia legislature for three terms and former state senator from the 19th district, who died Monday at Black Mountain.

ALVIN G. GOLUCKE.

N. C., following a lengthy illness, will be held here Wednesday morning. Interment will be at the Crawfordville cemetery.

Mr. Golucke has been in active practice of law here for about 15 years, and had met with remarkable success in his profession. He was elected to the legislature for the present term without opposition.

He was the author of the pistol bill and several other measures that came before the legislature at the past session and took an active interest in state affairs, being widely known throughout the state.

He was a member of the board of trustees of Stephens institute, and took an active part in school and church affairs in this county.

He is survived by his widow, Carrie G. Golucke; a daughter, Miss Anna Catharine; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Golucke, and a brother, Ralph W. Golucke, all of Crawfordville.

NEILL SELECTS HONORARY ESCORT.

Columbus, Ga., October 6.—(AP)—Speaker W. C. Neill, of the Georgia house of representatives, named the following members of the house as an honorary escort at the funeral, in Crawfordville, Wednesday, of Representative Alvin G. Golucke, who died Monday.

Representatives Jud Wilhoit, of Warren; Felix E. Boswell, of Greene; J. S. Grant, of Morgan; S. M. Haywood, of McWhorter; H. R. DeGroot, of Putnam; J. M. Ross, of Richmond; W. D. Lanier, of Columbia; Roy V. Harris, of Jefferson; Hamilton McWhorter, Jr., of Oglethorpe, and J. P. Parker, of Richmond.

WEATHER BUREAU PROMISES SHOWER THIS AFTERNOON

Light showers are predicted for Atlanta and northern Georgia today by C. F. von Herrmann, of the weather bureau. Fair weather is promised the southern part of the state.

"There is a slight possibility for showers in Atlanta in the late afternoon," Mr. von Herrmann said. "The temperature will rise in the forenoon above readings for Tuesday and will be followed by a light shower."

The temperature Tuesday morning reached the lowest for several months when the thermometer dropped to 58 degrees and reached a peak of 81.

Jarnecke Is Given Suspended Sentence By Federal Court

New York, October 6.—Elihu W. Jarnecke, former confidential secretary to Gaston B. Means and co-defendant with him in the trial of extortion, bootlegging and mail fraud charges, today was given a suspended sentence by Federal Judge Bondy.

Judge Bondy explained the mitigated sentence was given as a result of evidence furnished by Jarnecke, when he turned government witness against Means.

Means is now serving a sentence in the Atlanta penitentiary. Found guilty at the same time, Jarnecke also had been sentenced to two years there and fined $5,000 which he appealed.

SINGER TO ENTERTAIN LIONS AT LUNCHEON

Miss Ruth Lloyd Kinney, of New York city, concert contralto, will entertain today at the weekly luncheon of the Masonic club at the Peacock cafe.

Reports of the various committee presidents will be given in detail. New committees will be appointed. Claud N. Hughes, president, will give a talk, outlining future activities of the club.

TURNER DEATH DUE TO HEART TROUBLE

Organic heart trouble caused the sudden death of J. T. Turner, 70-year-old apartment manager, who was found dead in the hallway of the apartment at 52 West Peachtree place early Tuesday, according to a coroner's jury that investigated his death at the chapel of Harry G. Poole.

JACKSONVILLE LEADS IN POSTAL RECEIPTS

Washington, October 6.—(AP)—September postal receipts at 50 selected postoffices amounted to $28,551,485. Postmaster General New announced today, the total being an increase of $2,653,756 or 10.25 per cent over September a year ago.

Jacksonville led the 50 cities with an increase of 32.87 per cent.

DISCIPLES OF CHRIST OPEN CONVENTION

Oklahoma City, Okla., October 6.—(AP)—The seventy-fifth annual international convention of the Disciples of Christ opened here today.

An address by Dr. Jacob B. Goldner, of Cleveland, president of the convention, and a memorial service, led by the Rev. J. B. Briney, of Kansas City, occupied the initial session. Addressing the convention on the subject: "Make Disciples of All Nations," the official slogan of the diamond jubilee gathering, Dr. Goldner urged the church to exert itself to keep pace with the swift progress of the world.

Declaring that the modern church will demand that a minister be able to "conduct a Lord's Day service that is snappy, entertaining and popular," Dr. Goldner urged the convention to seek a return to unadorned worship, and old-fashioned virtues.

"There is no room in the modern church for the prophet," he said. "Churches are trying to convert the world by the use of money, and they become like the world they try to convert. In many of His churches God would not feel at home. By conformity with the world, the church is taking a short cut to impotence and death."

JONES BROTHERS MUST STAY IN JAIL PENDING APPEAL

Baltimore, Md., October 6.—(AP)—Nathaniel and Winfield Jones, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., must remain in jail pending the outcome of their appeal from their recent convictions in the Maryland Drug and Chemical company case, Federal Judge Morris A. Soper ruled today. The Jones brothers were sentenced to two years each in Atlanta penitentiary. Judge Soper signed a writ of error which will permit them to carry their case to the court of appeals in Washington.

Charles Baker, Isadore, Glasser, Simon Koller and Moss Caro convicted with the Jones brothers, will be transferred to Atlanta to begin serving their sentences tomorrow. Caro is months and the others one year each. The government charged that the defendants under the leadership of Winfield and Nathaniel Jones, had diverted alcohol from government warehouses into bootleg channels.

TWO ENGINEERS DIE IN NEVADA WRECK

Reno, October 6.—(AP)—Two engineers were killed and several persons slightly injured when westbound Southern Pacific passenger train number 5 collided with an eastbound freight train at Sparks last night.

The dead: W. K. Smith, Sparks, engineer of train number 5; T. K. Kummer, Sparks, fireman of train number 5.

Five are hurt.

Stamford, Conn., October 6.—(AP)—The New York to Boston express, number 54, over the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad, was in an accident today at a spreading rail, near the Stamford station this noon. The last three coaches left the rails. Five persons were reported hurt, one seriously.

MACON GETS RIGHT TO TRY OFFICIALS

Supreme Court Rules
Georgia City Had Power To Question "Fitness" of Commissioner.

Washington, October 6.—(AP)—The supreme court today dismissed as a moot case the appeal of John L. Anderson against the City of Macon, Ga.

Anderson sought in state courts to restrain the mayor and council of Macon from trying him on charges affecting his fitness to service as a member of the board of water commissioners and as a member of the Baconfield park commission. He was charged with larceny after trust monies belonging to a machinist's lodge.

Anderson contended with success in the trial court that the mayor and council had no authority under the municipal charter to try him, but lost in the state supreme court and appealed from that decision.

TRI-STATE PLANS REORGANIZATION OF TOBACCO POOL

Washington, October 6.—(AP)—reorganization of cooperative associations which market Virginia-Carolina tobacco has been undertaken by the National Council of Agricultural Cooperatives at the instance of the leaders of the present tri-state tobacco pool. The new plan will call for creation of two or three associations which will pool tobacco of like types and the first of these, to be known as the Virginia Dark Tobacco Cooperative association will establish offices at Richmond.

"The change is being brought about by the differences between the needs of growers in the dark fired belt and the growers in the bright and other belts," the national council explained today in a statement.

"A new contract, prepared by Aaron Sapiro, attorney for the council, and local leaders, covering the years 1927 to 1931, is now being circulated in Virginia by an organization committee."

"The contract, which is conditioned upon signing up 75 per cent of the corps, contains several new provisions, including authorization of the board of directors to sell prior to or upon delivery. It is made binding upon the estate or heirs of a member. A new clause appears in dealing with the crop mortgage by making such liens subject to the contract."

Radio Conference Called.

Washington, October 6.—(AP)—A fourth national conference on radio, to begin here November 9, was called today by Secretary Hoover, to consider, among other questions, the increasingly difficult problem of providing satisfactory service for the thousands of listeners throughout proper distribution of time and ether through the multiplying broadcasting stations.

Contractors Seek New Finance Plan In Building Work

Dallas, Texas, October 6.—(AP)—Reform in financing building construction and elimination of day labor methods were demanded by the executive board of the Associated General Contractors of America, meeting here today. These were advanced as the first steps in reduction of building costs throughout America.

Members of the board accused banks, brokers and other financial agents of taking too large a share of the money put into buildings and homes. From 20 to 30 per cent of the cost of building is absorbed by financial operations, it is said.

It was declared that rents were unjustly raised by these operations, because frequently, the contractors charge financial cost is added to construction cost and made to appear a part of it.

President Walbridge and General R. C. Marshall, Jr., of Washington, general manager of the association, declared the country was heading toward socialism if it did not check the system of day labor in public construction. They charged the government was creating monopolies in certain construction lines and declared taxpayers were losing millions yearly. Plans are afoot to bring all industry into a campaign against this practice.

SOLDIERS JOIN HUNT FOR MISSING AVIATOR

Bellefonte, Pa., October 6.—The first concerted night hunt got under way here Tuesday for Charles H. Ames, missing New York-Chicago air mail pilot. Nearly 1,000 national guardsmen, state and local police, federal agents, college students and natives of the hills are going over the territory where Ames' plane is believed to have crashed last Thursday night.

Before darkness fell 14 airplanes had flown over the wooded hills. They dropped circulars offering $100 reward to the finder of the missing pilot. Radio is broadcasting appeals for more aid in the search.

The troops are now working with Clarion as a central point. Carl F. Egge, Cleveland air mail superintendent, is directing the searchers.

If Ames' plane took fire as it crashed, it may be months before its meager wreckage is found, state police admitted.

What Industry Wants

THE New York Herald, a great newspaper; and the Magazine of Wall Street, a great business magazine, have recently commented editorially upon the remarkable Southward trend of industry.

Industry is seeking locations where power, raw material, labor, climate and transportation are available.

Atlanta and its immediate territory have the things industry wants.

Is it not the sensible, logical thing for Atlanta to get into touch with industry?

That is just what the Chamber of Commerce proposes to do with this $250,000 that is being raised this week. Your subscription to this fund is no more a contribution than your own advertising appropriation is a contribution. Both are investments of a very high type.

DOOMED YOUTHS ASK NEW TRIAL

Pleading for a new trial for William Jones and Gervis Bloodworth, who are under sentence of death for the murder of Howard L. Underwood, a traveling salesman, Attorney Homer Beeland, of Taylor county, argued Tuesday in behalf of the two youths before the Georgia supreme court.

Jones and Bloodworth are seeking their third trial. They have escaped death on the gallows five times since the murder of Underwood in Taylor county on December 13, 1923.

Appearing for the youths, Solicitor General Walker R. Flournoy and George C. Palmer made a plea for affirmation of the death sentences, pointing out that in a previous decision in the case, the supreme court held the killing to be a murder "without excuse, without justification, and without mitigating circumstances."

Attorney Beeland based his argument for a new trial upon the ground that the trial judge refused to give the jury certain instructions as to its authority to recommend mercy for the defendants, and that the trial judge had refused permission for an extra hour of argument.

Conviction of the youths followed the slaying of Underwood on a lonely road after he had given them a ride in his automobile. The two admitted the killing, but claimed they were under the influence of liquor and not responsible for their actions.

Upon conclusion of arguments the court took the case under advisement.

Revision of Rates On Electric Roads Given Approval

Revision of freight and express rates on the Atlanta Northern railway, effective November 1, was authorized Tuesday in a ruling of the Georgia public service commission.

Under the decision the Georgia Railway and Power company, owners of the Atlanta Northern railway, can charge 15 cents per 100 pounds on food and drinks and 27 cents per 100 pounds on all other items between points on the trolley line, with a minimum charge of 35 cents.

Rates authorized by the commission are less than the company petitioned for, the request being for a rate of 20 cents on food and drinks and 35 cents on other items. Varying rates are in existence at the present time, being divided into 10 classes with different charges between stations, as is the case on steam railroads.

Authority was granted to the Georgia Telephone company to increase exchange rates for business and residential stations, to take effect when the telephone company has converted the entire system into a common battery or central energy service. The present system is the old magneto type, using current generated by turning a crank in the side of the telephone.

The increase granted is from $3.20 to $4.00 for business telephones, and from $2.20 to $2.50 for residence phones. Subscribers of the exchange petitioned the commission for approval of the rates in effect that the company might be warranted in expending $15,000 in installing the new system.

Authority was given the Athens Railway and Electric company and the Athens Gas Light and Fuel company to adopt the continuous billing system.

By this system the company allows a discount within 10 days after the bill is submitted, rather than having all bills submitted on the first of the month and allowing a discount if paid by the tenth of the month. The continuous billing system is now in effect in Atlanta and several other Georgia cities. The new system takes effect in Athens November 1, after proper notice is served on the customers.

The petition of the East Georgia Power company, a subsidiary of the Georgia Railway and Power company, to issue $1,000,000 in preferred and common stock was approved Tuesday by the commission.

The commission heard a number of new cases Tuesday, including that of the Athens Railway and Electric company to change the street car schedule as to having a 30-minute instead of a 15-minute headway on two belt lines.

DRUNK, RECKLESS DRIVERS MAY FACE MURDER CHARGES

Upholding a one to two-year sentence given O. L. Black in Cobb county superior court on an involuntary manslaughter charge following the death of Miss Mary Lee King in an accident while riding in Black's automobile, the Georgia court of appeals Tuesday ruled that a person who kills a human being while operating an automobile at an illegal rate of speed or while under the influence of whisky can be tried for murder.

Miss King was killed when Black's automobile struck a telephone pole on the Atlanta-Marietta road, near the Locust Grove schoolhouse, January 25. According to evidence in the case, Black was under the influence of liquor at the time of the accident and was driving at an estimated speed of 35 to 45 miles an hour.

In part, the court of appeals opinion follows:

"Where one operates an automobile on a public street or highway at a rate of speed penalized by statute or while he is under the influence of intoxicating liquor, and, in consequence thereof, kills a human being, without any intention to do so, he is under that view of the case most favorable to him guilty of involuntary manslaughter. If the involuntary killing happens in the commission of an unlawful act, which, in its consequences, naturally tends to destroy the life of a human being, the offense is murder."

DELEGATES TO AIR MEET TO NEW YORK

Four delegates to the National Aeronautic association from the Atlanta chapter have left to attend the meeting of the board of governors and the international air races at Mitchell field, Mineola, N. Y. The party is headed by Robert E. Lee Cone, a vice president and a member of the national executive committee. He is governor for Georgia of the national association, which represents the Federation Aeronautique Internationale in the United States.

Others in the party are James H. Turner and Henry H. Russell, of Atlanta, and Guy O. Stone, of Glenwood, Ga. All are world war aviators.

GOVERNOR'S MANSION PURCHASE DELAYED

Final action in the closing of a deal by the state of Georgia for the purchase of the Ansley mansion in Ansley Park was deferred Tuesday at a meeting of the mansion purchase commission until further data can be assembled relative to the woodland tract of three acres adjoining the site.

Matters in the purchase of the mansion site reached a head Tuesday, but the signing of the papers was postponed until the three-acre tract matter is finally cleared up. A price of $86,000 has been agreed upon.

UNDEFENDED DIVORCE SYSTEM IS CHANGED

Judge W. D. Ellis of the civil division of Fulton superior court ruled Tuesday that the question of the eligibility of evidence given by plaintiffs in undefended divorce cases, either by deposition or interrogatory, where the solicitor general is not present, will be raised in all undefended cases tried before him.

This ruling was issued after it was announced the court would take up the undefended divorce case docket on Monday, October 19.

According to local attorneys the ruling will almost revolutionize the trial of undefended divorce cases, as in many instances, depositions of plaintiffs are taken in court and admitted when the plaintiffs are not present, and when the depositions have been made without the presence of a representative of the solicitor's office.

The attorneys further declared that the ruling if carried into effect, in a strict sense, would have the effect of throwing out quite a number of depositions already prepared for the approaching term of court. Many plaintiffs, who have made depositions for their cases, have gone from the city, and have planned to return when their cases are heard, and the ruling will be in effect.

For years the custom has been to have testimony of many of the plaintiffs submitted to the court for deposition and also to have the solicitor general to appear in defense of each undefended divorce case.

SINGERS WILL HOLD BIG MEETING HERE

Well-known singers from the six southeastern states and two noted hymn writers will attend the Southeastern Singing convention, which will be held three days beginning Friday at the Southern fair, according to an announcement Tuesday by officials of the organization.

Charles H. Gabriel, of Berkeley, Calif., and J. A. Roddeheaver, of Chicago, both well-known hymn writers, will attend the convention.

One of the largest gatherings of the three-day convention is expected on Friday night when a concert will be given at the city auditorium. The range of music promised will range from grand opera to the latest jazz music.

Plans are being made by convention officials to entertain a crowd of 10,000 that night. Expenses of the convention will be borne by admission fee on Friday night.

Other concerts will be held at the fair grounds. R. S. Stuckey, of Dalton, Ga., president of the convention, will be in charge.

Included in the group of well-known singers who will appear on the program will be the V. O. Stamps quartet, of Jacksonville, Texas, and the Lawton E. Bracewell quartet, of Atlanta. The convention will close Sunday.

quante military preparation," that "the country can rest assured that if security lies in military force, it was never so secure before in all its history" and his advocacy of a selective service act applying to both persons and materials.

Mrs. Coolidge Cheered.

After he had wound up his speech with a declaration of faith in the American legion, the president was cheered several minutes. Mrs. Coolidge, seated behind him on the platform, coming in also for cheers and applause.

Although a cold, drizzling rain was falling when the presidential party left its train here after a four-hour ride covering 1,300 miles from Washington, it cleared off during the morning and at times during the review sunshine streaked through the clouds. It was chilly, however, and the thousands of spectators in the open stands across the street from the president had difficulty keeping warm.

Before going to the reviewing stand Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge attended a luncheon given in their honor by Omaha citizens and local officials at the Omaha club. Finding they were unable to remain for the entire parade, they entered an automobile and moved slowly toward the end of the line to wave a greeting to delegations yet to pass the reviewing stand.

The presidential train is due in Washington Thursday morning.

Text of Address.

Following is the text of the address of President Coolidge to the American Legion, Commander and Members of the American Legion:

It is a high privilege to sit as a member of this organization. It is a mark of personal merit which did not come by right of birth but by right of conquest. No one can question your title as patriots. No one can ever doubt the place of affection and honor which you hold forevermore in the heart of the nation. Your right to the results from what you dared and what you did and the sacrifices which you made for our common country. It is the privilege of the American Legion to be the American Legion.

The magnitude of the service which you rendered to your country and to humanity is beyond estimation. The clouds outline here and there we know, but the whole account of the world war would be a scale so stupendous that the heart of the nation is staggered. The story which was finally gained by you and your foreign comrades, who represented on the battle field the united efforts of our whole people. You were there as a result of a great resurgence of the old American spirit, which manifested itself in a thousand ways—by the pouring out of vast sums of money in credits and charities, by the organization and quickening of every hand in our extended industries, by the expansion of agriculture until it met the demand for foodstuffs, by the manufacture of an unending stream of munitions and supplies, by the creation of vast fleets of war and transport ships, and, finally, when the tide of battle was turning against our associates, by bringing into action a great armed force on sea and land of a character that the world had never seen before, which, when it finally took its place in the line, never ceased to advance, carrying the cause of liberty to a triumphant conclusion. You reaffirmed the position of the nation in the estimation of mankind. You saved civilization from a gigantic reverse. Nobody says now that Americans can not fight.

Many Motives.

Our people were influenced by many motives to undertake to carry on this gigantic conflict, but we went in and came out singularly free from those questionable causes and results which have often characterized other wars. We were not moved by the age-old antagonisms of racial jealousies and hatreds. We were not seeking to gratify the ambitions of any reigning dynasty. We harbored no imperialistic designs. We feared no other country. We coveted no territory. But the time came when we were compelled to defend our own property and protect the rights and lives of our own citizens. We believed, however, that those institutions which we cherish with a supreme affection, and which lie at the foundation of our whole scheme of human relationship, the right of freedom, of equality, of self-government, were all in jeopardy. We thought the question was involved of whether the people of the earth were to rule or whether they were to be ruled. We thought that we were helping to determine whether the principle of despotism or the principle of liberty should be the prevailing standard among the nations. Then, our country all came under the influence of a great wave of idealism. The crusading spirit was aroused. The cause of civilization, the cause of humanity, made a compelling appeal. No doubt there were other motives, but these appear to me the chief causes which drew America into the world war.

In a conflict which engaged all the major nations of the earth and lasted for a period exceeding four years, there could be no expectation of material gains. War in its very essence means destruction. Never before were contending peoples so well equipped with every kind of infernal engine calculated to spread desolation on land and over the face of the deep. Our country is only but now righting itself and beginning a moderate but steady recovery from the great economic loss which it sustained. That tremendous debt must be liquidated through the laborious toil of our people. Modern warfare becomes more and more to mean utter loss, destruction, and desolation of the best that there is of any people, its valiant youth and its accumulated treasure. If our country secured any benefit, if it met with any gain, it must have been in moral and spiritual values. It must be not because it made its fortune but because it found its soul. Others may disagree with me, but in spite of some incidental and trifling difficulties it is my firm opinion that America has come out of the war with a stronger determination to live by the rule of righteousness and pursue the course of truth and justice in both our domestic and foreign relations. No one can deny that we have protected the rights of our citizens, laid a firmer foundation for our institutions of liberty, and made our contribution to the cause of civilization and humanity. In doing all this we found that, though of many different nationalities, our people had a spiritual bond. They were all Americans.

Encouraged by Outlook.

When we look over the rest of the world, in spite of all its devastation there is encouragement to believe in a firmer moral foundation than it was in 1914. Much of the old despotism has been swept away. While some of it comes creeping back disguised under new names, no one can doubt that the general admission of the right of the people to self-government has made tremendous progress in nearly every quarter of the globe. In spite of the staggering losses and the grievous burden of taxation, there is a new note of hope for the individual to be more secure in his rights, which is unmistakably clearer than ever before. With all the troubles and the hardships of the war, the cloud of fear is evidently not now so appalling. It is impossible to believe that any nation now feels that it would be better itself by war, and it is apparent to me that there has been a very distinct advance in the policy of peaceful and honorable adjustment of international differences. War has become less probable; peace has become more secure. The price which has been paid to bring about this new condition is utterly beyond comprehension. We can not see why it should not have come in orderly and peaceful methods without the attendant shocks of fire and sword and carnage. We only know that it is here. We believe that on the ruins of the old order a better civilization is being constructed.

We had our domestic problems which resulted from the war. The chief of these was the care and relief of the afflicted veterans and their dependents. This was a tremendous task, on which about $2,000,000,000 has already been expended. No doubt there have been cases where the unworthy have secured aid, and the worth have gone unrelieved. Some mistakes were inevitable, but our people and our government have at all times been especially solicitous to discharge most faithfully this prime obligation. What is now being done is related to you in detail by General Hines, of the Veterans' Bureau, a public official of demonstrated merit, so that I shall not dwell upon it. During the past year, under the distinguished and efficient leadership of Commander Drain, the Legion itself has undertaken to provide an endowment fund of $5,000,000 to minister to the charitable requirements of their comrades. The response to this appeal has been most generous and the results appear most promising. The government can do much, but it can never supply the personal relationship that comes from the ministrations of a private charity of that kind.

Finance Problem.

The next most pressing problem was the better ordering of the finances of the nation. Our government was costing more money than it was worth. It had more people on the pay roll than were necessary, all of which made expenses too many and taxes too high. This inflated condition contributed to the depression which began in 1920. But the government expenditures have been almost cut in two, taxes have been twice reduced, and the incoming congress will provide reductions. Deflation has run its course and an era of business activity and general prosperity, exceeding anything ever before experienced in this country and fairly well distributed among all our people, is already at hand.

Our country has a larger army and a more powerful navy, costing annually almost twice as much as it ever before had in time of peace. I am a thorough believer in a policy of adequate military preparation. We are constantly working to perfect our defenses in every branch, land forces, air forces, surface and submarine forces. That work will continue. Our military establishment of the army and navy, the national guard and the reserve corps is far superior to anything we have ever maintained before, except in time of war. In the past six years we have expended about $4,000,000,000 for this purpose. That ought to show results, and those who have correct information know that it does show results. The country that is not prepared for attack in military force, it was never so secure before in all its history.

Armament Question.

We have been attempting to relieve our arms and munitions from the old theory of competitive armaments. In spite of all the arguments in favor of great military forces, no nation ever had an army large enough to guarantee itself against attack in time of peace or to insure its victory in time of war. No nation ever will.

Peace and Prosperity.

But it will always be impossible to harmonize justice and war. It is always possible to purchase materials with money, but patriotism can not be purchased. Unless the people are willing to defend their country because of their belief in it, because it is representative of their home, their country can not be defended. If we are looking for a more complete reign of justice, a more complete supremacy of law, a more complete social harmony, we must seek it in the paths of peace. Progress in these directions under the present order of the world is not likely to be made except during a state of domestic and international tranquillity. One of the great ones of the other arts of peace which minister to the advancement of human welfare. Happily, the position of our country is such among the nations of the world that we have been and shall be warranted in proceeding in this direction.

While it is true that we are paying out far more money and maintaining a much stronger military establishment than ever before, because of the conditions stated, we have been able to pursue a moderate course. Our people have had all the war, all the taxation and all the military service that they want. They have therefore wished to emphasize their attachment to our ancient policy of peace. They have insisted upon the strength in numbers and in resources. We have a tremendous natural power which supplements our arms. We are conscious that no other nation harbors any design to put us in jeopardy. It is our purpose in our intercourse with foreign powers to rely not on the strength of our fleets and our armies but on the justice of our cause. For these reasons our country has not wished to maintain huge military forces. It has been convinced that it could better serve itself and better serve humanity by using its resources for other purposes.

Civil Foundation.

In dealing with our military problem that is on principle that is exceedingly important. Our institutions are founded not on military power but on civil authority. We are irrevocably committed to the principle of a government by the people. We have our constitutions and our laws, our executives, our legislatures and our courts, but ultimately we are governed by public opinion. Our forefathers had seen so much of militarism, and suffered so much from it, that they desired to banish it forever. They believed and declared in at least one of their state constitutions that the military power should be subordinate to and governed by the civil authority. It is for this reason that any organization of men in the military service bent on inflaming the public mind for the purpose of forcing government action through the pressure of public opinion is an exceedingly dangerous undertaking and precedent. This is so whatever form it might take, whether it be for the purpose of influencing the executive, the legislature or the heads of departments. It is for the civil authority to determine what appropriations shall be adopted for the conduct of its armed forces. Whenever the military power stands dictating to the civil authority, by whatever means adopted, the liberties of the country are beginning to end. National defense should at all times be supported, but any form of militarism should be resisted.

Undoubtedly one of the most important provisions in the preparation for national defense is a proper and sound selective service act. Such a law ought to give authority for a very broad mobilization of all the resources of the country, both persons and materials. I can see some difficulties in the application of the principle that stimulates an increased production of all kinds of proficiencies. There is little defense which can be made of a system which puts some men in the ranks on very small pay and leaves others undisturbed to reap very large profits. Even the income tax, which recaptured for the benefit of the national treasury alone about 75 per cent of such profits, while local governments took part of the remainder, is not a complete answer. The laying of taxes is, of course, in itself a description of whatever is necessary of the wealth of the country for national defense, but taxation does not meet the full requirements of the situation. In the advent of war, power would be lodged somewhere for the stabilization of prices as far as that might be possible in justice to the country and its defenders.

Peace and Prosperity.

But it will always be impossible to harmonize justice and war. It is always possible to purchase materials with money, but patriotism can not be purchased. Unless the people are willing to defend their country because of their belief in it, because it is representative of their home, their country can not be defended. If we are looking for a more complete reign of justice, a more complete supremacy of law, a more complete social harmony, we must seek it in the paths of peace. Progress in these directions under the present order of the world is not likely to be made except during a state of domestic and international tranquillity. One of the great ones tions before the nations today is how to promote such tranquillity.

The economic problems of society are important. An the whole, we are meeting them fairly well. They are so personal and so pressing that they never fail to receive constant attention. But they are only a part. We need to put a proper emphasis on the other problems of society. We need to consider what attitude of the public mind it is necessary to cultivate in order that a mixed population like our own may dwell together more harmoniously and the fanning of nations reach a better state of understanding. You who have been in the service know how absolutely necessary it is in a military organization that the individual subordinate some part of his personality for the general good. That is the one great lesson which results from the training of a soldier. Whoever has been taught that lesson in camp and field is thereafter the better equipped to appreciate that it is equally applicable in other departments of life. It is necessary in the home, in industry and commerce, in scientific and intellectual development. At the foundation of every strong and mature character we find this trait which is best described as being subject to discipline. The essence of it is tolerance. It is tolerance in the broadest and most inclusive sense, a liberality of mind, which gives to the opinions and judgments of others the same generous consideration that it asks for its own, and which is moved by the spirit of the philosopher who declared that "to know all is to forgive all." It may not be given to finite beings to attain that ideal, but it is none the less one toward which we should strive.

One of the most natural of reactions during the war was intolerance. But the inevitable disregard for the opinions and feelings of minorities is none the less a disturbing product of war psychology. The slow and difficult advances which tolerance and liberalism have made through long periods of development are dissipated in almost a night when the necessary war-time habits of thought hold the minds of the people. The necessity for a common purpose and a united intellectual front becomes paramount to everything else. But when the need for such a solidarity is past there should be a quick and generous readiness to revert to the old and normal habits of thought. There should be an intellectual demobilization as well as a military demobilization. Progress depends very largely on the encouragement of variety. Whatever tends to standardize the community

OF CATARRH

A Simple, Safe, Inexpensive Method that Clears Out the Head, Nose and Throat.

There is no disease more offensive or disagreeable, o. no disease that will lead to so much serious trouble as catarrh. You can now get rid of it by a simple, safe, pleasant home remedy discovered by Dr. Blosser, a catarrh specialist.

Dr. Blosser's Remedy is composed of medicinal herbs, flowers and berries, which you smoke in a simple pipe or cigarette. The smoke-vapor is inhaled into the air passages of the head, nose, throat and lungs and carries medicine where sprays, douches and salves can not possibly reach. Its effect is soothing and healing and is entirely harmless. It contains no cubes or tobacco, and may be used by women and children as well as men.

If you suffer from catarrh, asthma, catarrhal deafness or are subject to frequent colds, get from any drug store a convenient pocket-size package of Dr. Blosser's Cigarettes and prove for yourself their pleasant beneficial effect.—(adv.)

us; and even when we can gain nothing from our differences are likely to do us no harm.

In this period of after-war rigidity, suspicion, and intolerance our own country has not been exempt from unfortunate experiences. Thanks to our comparative isolation, we have known less of the international frictions and rivalries than some other countries less fortunately situated. But among some of the varying racial, religious, and social groups of our people there have been manifestations of an intolerance of opinion, a narrowness of outlook, a fixity of judgment, against which we may well be warned. It is not easy to conceive of anything that would be more unfortunate in a country based upon the ideals of which Americans boast than any considerable development of intolerance as regards religion. To a great extent this country owes its beginnings to the determination of our early ancestors to maintain complete freedom in religion. Instead of a state church we have decreed that every citizen shall be free to follow the dictates of his own conscience as to his religious beliefs and affiliations. Under that guaranty we have erected a system which certainly is justified by its fruits. Under no other could we have dared to invite the peoples of all countries and creeds to come here and unite with in creating the state of which we are all citizens.

But having invited them here, having accepted their great and varied contributions to the building of the nation, it is for us to maintain in all good faith those liberal institutions and traditions which have been so productive of good. The bringing together of all these different national, racial, religious and cultural elements has made our country a kind of composite of the rest of the world, and we can render no greater service than by demonstrating the possibility of harmonious cooperation among so many various groups. Every one of them has something characteristic and significant of great value to cast into the common fund of our material, intellectual, and spiritual resources.

The war brought a great test of our experiment in amalgamating these varied factors into a real nation, with the ideals and aspirations of a united people. None was excepted from the obligation to serve when the hour of danger struck. The event proved that our theory had been sound. On a solid foundation of national unity there had been erected a superstructure which in its varied parts had offered full opportunity to develop all the range of talents and genius that had gone into its making. Well-nigh all the races, religions, and nationalities of the world were represented in the armed forces of this nation, as they were in the body of our population. No man's patriotism was impugned or service questioned because of his racial origin, his political opinion, or his religious convictions. Immigrants and sons of immigrants from the central European countries fought side by side with those who descended from the countries which were our allies; with the sons of equatorial Africa; and with the Red men of our own aboriginal population, all of them equally proud of the name Americans.

We must not, in times of peace, permit ourselves to lose any part from this structure of patriotic unity. I make no plea for leniency toward those who are criminal or vicious, are open enemies of society, and are not prepared to accept the true standards of our citizenship. By tolerance I do not mean indifference to evil. I mean respect for different kinds of good. Whether one traces his Americanism back three centuries to the Mayflower, or three years to the stage, is not half so important as whether his Americanism of today is real and genuine. No matter by what various crafts we came here, we are all now in the same boat. You men constituted the crew of our "Ship of State" during her passage through the roughest waters. You made up the watch and held the danger posts when the storm was fiercest. You brought her safely and triumphantly into port. Our of that experience, you have learned the lessons of discipline, tolerance, respect for authority and regard for the best interests of the whole.

You bore aloft a standard of patriotic conduct and civic integrity, to which all could repair. Such a standard, with a like common aim, must be upheld just as firmly and unflinchingly now in time of peace. Among citizens honestly devoted to the maintenance of that standard, there need be small concern about differences of individual opinion in other regards. Granting first the essentials of loyalty to our country and to our fundamental institutions, we may not overlook, but we may encourage differences of opinion as to other things. For differences of this kind will certainly be elements of strength rather than of weakness. They will give variety to our tastes and interests. They will broaden our vision, strengthen our understanding, encourage the true humanities, and enrich our whole mode and conception of life. I recognize the full and complete necessity of 100 per cent Americanism, but 100 per cent Americanism may be made up of many various elements.

If we are to have that harmony and tranquility that union of spirit which is the foundation of real national genius and national progress, we must all realize that there are true Americans who did not happen to be born in our sections of the country, who do not attend our place of religious worship, who are not of our racial stock, or who are not of our language. If we are to create on this continent a free republic and an enlightened civilization that will be capable of reflecting the true greatness and glory of mankind, it will be necessary to regard these differences as accidental and unessential. We shall have to look beyond the outward manifestations of race and creed. Divine Providence has not bestowed upon any race a monopoly of patriotism and character.

The same principle that it is necessary to apply to the attitude of mind among our own people it is also necessary to apply to the attitude of mind toward those of other races. During the war we were required not only to put a strong emphasis on everything that appealed to our own national pride but an equally strong emphasis on that which tended to disparage other people. There was an intensive cultivation of animosities and hatreds and enmities, together with a blind appeal to force, that took possession of substantially all the peoples of the earth. Of course, these animosities and enmities, they are not constructive. The generally expressed desire of "America first" cannot be criticized. It is a perfectly correct aspiration for our people to cherish. But the problem which we have to solve is how to make America first. It cannot be done by the cultivation of national bigotry, arrogance, or selfishness. Hatreds, jealousies and suspicions will not be the victors in this struggle. Here again we must apply the rule of tolerance. Because there are other peoples whose ways are broader ways, and whose thoughts are not our thoughts, we are not warranted in drawing the conclusion that they are adding nothing to the sum of human knowledge. We can make little contribution to the welfare of humanity on the theory that we are a superior people and all others are inferior. We do not have to be too loud in the assertion of our own righteousness. It is true that we live under most favorable circumstances. But let us come to the final and irrevocable decision that we are better than everybody else we need to consider what we might do if we had their provocations and their difficulties. We are more likely to improve our own condition or help humanity very much until we come to the sympathetic understanding that human nature is about the same everywhere, that it is rather evenly distributed over the surface of the earth, and that we are all united in common humanity.

It is for these reasons that it seems clear that the results of the war will be lost and we shall only be entering upon a new era of "patriotic in mercy," and through progress at home and helpfulness abroad standing as an example of real service to humanity.

NAVY HANDICAPPED BY LACK OF FUNDS

Washington, October 6.—(AP)—Rear Admiral W. R. Schoemaker, chief of the bureau of navigation, declared before the president's air board today that lack of funds had caused a curtailment of every naval activity, and necessitated a reduction in the enlisted personnel from $6,000 to $1,700 for the fiscal year 1926.

One of the several naval officers called today, Admiral Schoemaker, advocated the training as pilots of one enlisted man to every flying officer as an economical way of preparing a reserve of skilled men to meet estimated war time requirements.

After concluding with the admiral, the board recessed until tomorrow, when it expects to recall Rear Admiral William A. Moffett, naval air chief, and also Captain G. W. Steele, commander of the Lakehurst, N. J., naval air station.

While hearing was in progress today, Representative Frank R. Reid, of Illinois, who has announced he will introduce a bill to amend the war department initiative court-martial proceedings against Colonel William Mitchell, wired the American Legion convention, meeting in Omaha, Neb., to "select some of your best lawyers to assist in case of a trial."

In discussing naval finances, Admiral Schoemaker said that the budget for the fiscal year of 1926, $7,000,000, was a reduction of $1,000,000 from the $8,000,000 of 1925. Many submarines and destroyers, he added, are tied up because of insufficient personnel to man them.

He opposed unification of the air services, declaring unity of command was essential in a naval battle, which he asserted, would still be decided on the surface because the limited capacity of the airplanes and submarines made them dependent on other craft for supplies.

He thought airplane carriers like the Lexington and Saratoga, equipped with 36 planes each, would be required to sink one battleship, using this conclusion on the fact that bombing tests to date have indicated it required sixty planes, each carrying one bomb, to score four hits, the number needed to put a battleship out of commission.

War-time plans for the navy, he told the board, contemplated 2,000 naval pilots. If this number is to be appropriated, he said, it will be necessary to increase by two-fifths the appointments to Annapolis in order to obtain sufficient men capable of meeting physical requirements.

Recommendations Training. Rather than do this, he proposed that the board recommend training of enlisted men, pointing out that such pilots would receive lower pay and also could be quartered more cheaply on board ship.

Other officers testifying today were Lieutenant Donald M. Carpenter, of the Pensacola, Fla., naval air station; Captain H. E. Yarnell, in charge of naval air forces with the scout fleet at the Hawaiian maneuvers last spring; Lieutenant D. M. Dillon, of the bureau of aeronautics, and Commander J. H. McCain, of the bureau of navigation.

Boost Is Given To Enlisted Men By Rear Admiral

Washington, October 6.—Enlisted men in the army and navy and the men who man the submarines have found an ardent champion in Rear Admiral William R. Schoemaker, chief of the bureau of navigation of the navy.

Schoemaker came to their aid Tuesday before the president's special aircraft inquiry board. Enlisted men in either branch of the service are often as good as the officers while the men who brave the perils of the undersea craft are deserving of special attention from the government, Admiral Schoemaker declared.

He advocated that enlisted men be given a chance in the air service and told the board that to bring the service to its maximum efficiency, there should be as many enlisted men as there are officers.

"There are many men who never went through West Point or Annapolis who are just as efficient as some of our officers," he said, citing as illustration, that the best flyer in the fleet is a machinist named Shea.

Schoemaker told the board that he is very sympathetic with the criticisms of the airmen which have been told and retold many times to the board. He declared he favored increased pay for the men in this particularly hazardous branch of the service but warned the board that if increased pay was granted them, the government would be confronted with immediate demands for similar favor from the submarine men.

"There is a great similarity between the men who go under the sea and the men who go up in the air," he said, "and the submarine men want to be considered if there is to be any extra pay given out."

Schoemaker urged a system of compulsory government insurance as a substitute for the increased flight pay asked by service aviators and recommended that the annual entrance number to West Point and Annapolis be increased.

Served Nine Months. Newark, N. J., October 6.—(AP)—Announcement was made today that Charles and Ralph Sabatino, of New York, had been paroled from the Atlanta federal prison. The Sabatino brothers were sentenced in 1923 for trying to bribe federal agents to permit a $10,000,000 liquor withdrawal from a New York warehouse.

New York, October 6.—(AP)—Ralph and Charles Sabatino were released from the Atlanta federal penitentiary after serving only nine months of the two-year prison terms imposed, together with fines of $10,000 each. Although sentenced in 1923 they did not begin serving their terms until last January, having filed an appeal.

Foot Expert

From Headquarters To Be Here
Oct. 7th to 17th

Through special arrangements with Headquarters, a Wizard foot relief representative will be at our store during the above mentioned dates. It is with satisfaction that we offer you his skillful foot relief service and expert advice. If you are troubled with—

Fallen Arches
Painful Heels
Leaning Ankles
Run-Over Heels
Enlarged Ankles
Painful Callouses
Cramped Toes
Calf or Knee Pains

—it will be to your interest and comfort to take advantage of this unusual opportunity to consult this foot relief representative. He thoroughly understands the human foot. His advice will surely guide you to relief from your foot troubles.

Why Let Your Feet Hurt?

Fallen arches, leaning ankles, callouses, rotation of the heel and other foot troubles are traced to the breaking down of the delicate bone structures of the foot. One or more of the bones in the 26-bone structure has given away under the weight of the body. Misplaced bones are pressing against sensitive nerves. Pain, enlargement or swelling are nature's warning that your feet need help.

Restoration of the foot structure to natural position is the only means of relief. This is quickly and comfortably accomplished with smooth all-leather Wizard Arch Builders, adjustable at the heel, ball and arch. Wizard Arch Builders—invisible when worn—are featherlight. They may be worn in practically any style shoe that meets with your approval. The results in comfort and graceful poise are priceless.

Free Foot Examination

Sometime during this special demonstration, visit our store. Consult the special representative from Wizard Headquarters. Learn the cause of your Foot Trouble. Without charge a skilled examination will be made of your stockinged feet. You merely slip off your shoes just as you do in buying a new pair. The cause of your trouble will be revealed and you will be given the benefit of a test fitting which will convince you beyond any question that you may have relief. There is no inconvenience—absolutely no obligation.

FOUR out of FIVE are caught

IT'S sheer carelessness to let pyorrhea cause trouble in your mouth. Yet your dentist knows that four out of five past forty, and many younger, suffer from this serious gum disorder.

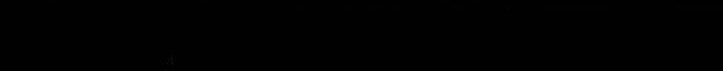

It begins with tender bleeding gums. Soon the teeth loosen in their sockets and the poison spreads through the system, causing rheumatism, neuritis, and other similar diseases.

Forhan's for the Gums is the simple, easy way to keep you out of pyorrhea's clutches. It's a pleasant dentifrice that firms the gums and gives the teeth a thorough cleansing. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid which has been used by dentists for the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea.

If used regularly and in time, Forhan's prevents or checks pyorrhea and so is an important safeguard to health. Begin today to use Forhan's night and morning as a wise precaution. All druggists, 35¢ and 60¢ in tubes.

WOMEN'S LEAGUE TO CONVEENE HERE

The seventh annual convention of the Georgia League of Women Voters which holds its initial session Thursday morning, October 8, at the Henry Grady hotel will be marked by the number of prominent names on the various programs.

The convention will be delivered by the Rev. W. H. N. Moor, rector of St. Luke's Episcopal church, and the state president, Mrs. L. L. Henderson, of Macon, will preside. Leagues of Atlanta, DeKalb county, including Decatur and East Lake, and College Park are joint hostesses. The state body and the convention will remain in session from Thursday morning at 11 o'clock until Saturday noon. Members from the various leagues throughout the state are expected as delegates and visitors and many social features are planned for them.

The Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs, of which Mrs. Robert K. Rambo is president, will entertain for delegates at a tea on Friday afternoon at the Piedmont Driving club and the Atlanta Woman's club, of which Mrs. Norman Sharp is president, will entertain at a tea Thursday afternoon. Delegates will be shown Stone Mountain and there will be a luncheon on Thursday and Friday, and a banquet on Thursday evening, with an open meeting on Friday evening. All interested persons, whether league members or not, are invited to all sessions of the convention and to the subscription luncheons and banquet, leaders state. Reservations may be made for these at local headquarters, 420 Connelly building, or at the Henry Grady hotel on the morning of the convention.

Mrs. Viola Ross Napier, representa-tative from Bibb county in the Georgia legislature, will speak Friday evening, and Miss Jeanette Rankin, former congresswoman from Montana, will appear on the same program.

The Georgia League of Women Voters is an organization which concerns itself largely with the education of the voter and the organization has supported and actively worked for the civil rights bill, the child placing bill, the creation of a children's code commission, the securing of additional appropriation for the welfare bureau and for the acceptance of the maternity and infancy bill. The opposition to the fee system for public officials was also actively made by the league and all subjects which directly concern public welfare and political improvement are endorsed by the league.

All persons desiring reservations for the League of Women Voters banquet or luncheons are asked to notify the office of the Atlanta league a day in advance of the occasion. Reservations for Thursday may be made at 420 Connelly building.

KIWANIANS GATHER AT BAKING PLANT

Kiwanians and their ladies were lavishly entertained Tuesday afternoon at the new $1,500,000 plant of the F. O. Stone Baking company as the guests of Kiwanian Fred O. Stone and Mrs. Stone.

Attractive souvenirs and handsome prizes were awarded the women at the gathering, and the men were all given walking canes and paper hats. An appetizing meal was served by a corps of dairy maids from the bakery.

Welcome to the Kiwanian club was expressed by Mr. Stone and Dr. William A. Shelton responded for the Kiwanians with a tribute to Mr. Stone's success in the baking industry. Dr. Shelton gave a splendid tribute to the ladies of Kiwanis. Mrs. Stone was presented with a beautiful bouquet of roses by the Kiwanians. The program of the meeting consisted of music and fun, the only business of the day being that of announcing preparations for the meeting of the club next Tuesday afternoon at the Southeastern fair.

National Guard Officers Study Training Plans

Intensive training plans which will be entered upon this fall and winter by the 122nd infantry, Atlanta's Own guard regiment, will be the subject of a round table discussion at noon today at a luncheon of officers at the Ansley hotel. Colonel Charles H. Cox, regimental commander, and Lieutenant Colonel Eugene Oberdorfer, executive officer, will lead the discussion.

Although Colonel J. M. Kimbrough, senior instructor of Georgia national guard, is recovering at his home in Griffin from injuries received in a recent train crash, it is probable that Captain R. B. Ennis, junior instructor, will be present at the luncheon and discuss various phases of advanced training which the 122nd outfit will enter upon this fall and winter.

During the 18 months the Atlanta regiment has been in existence, its training has exceeded even the expectations of high military officials. It is said, due to the fact that its officers and men for the most part are veterans of the world war or came into the regiment fresh from various training camps.

The very moderate price of the Pierce-Arrow Series 80 car is only the first step in its unusual economy. Because of the quality and precision of Pierce-Arrow building, there is little wear. Adjustments are seldom needed. Even normal attentions like cleaning carbon and grinding valves are required less frequently. The result is a surprisingly low maintenance cost. This is rendered even lower by special high-speed tools and machines which reduce the time and cost, often by 75%. We will gladly present specific facts about Series 80 economy and demonstrate the car, upon request. No obligation.

COUNCIL PARTY GUESTS ON TOUR ON NEW COACHES

Members of council were taken on a "sight-seeing" tour of Atlanta Tuesday afternoon on two of the big coaches to be operated by The Atlanta Coach company. They enjoyed a trip over both of the routes for the busses which have been proposed by the Georgia Railway and Power company, operators of the coach line.

Chaperoned by officials of the company headed by President Preston S. Arkwright, F. L. Butler, G. W. Brine, L. K. Starr and others, the council members were taken out Spring street to Fourteenth street, thence through Ansley Park to Morningside. Returning, the party came back to the city over Virginia avenue, Argonne avenue, North Boulevard, Fifth street and Spring street to the terminal at Mitchell and Spring streets.

The two huge busses, which are the first of a fleet of fifteen to be operated by the company, have a capacity of 60 passengers and a seat is to be provided for each passenger, as no standing passengers will be carried. They operated Tuesday as comfortably as a standard-sized automobile. They are double-deckers and accommodate passengers both inside and outside.

The company has filed a petition with council to establish two routes for the busses, which will be granted at the next session of council, after which regular schedules will be maintained over the two routes.

"Still Beer" Dubbed Intoxicating Drink In Court at Decatur

Decatur, Ga., October 6.—(Special.) "Still beer" is an intoxicating beverage, according to a ruling today by Judge Walter Daley, of the city court of Decatur, in the trial of Roscoe Twissell. Officers testifying in the case stated that no whiskey was found in Twissell's possession, but C. H. Liver, called by the prosecution, testified that he had seen the drinkers of "still beer" become intoxicated after it stood several days.

Twissell drew $250 fine and 12 months suspended sentence.

"LOST" GIRL RETURNS, WAS WITH FRIENDS

Police search for Miss Dorothy Brannon, who lives on the Sewell road, was ended Tuesday when they were notified of the young woman's return home.

Miss Brannon left home last Saturday afternoon. Neighbors, according to informants, given police by her mother, she had returned and the next Mrs. Brannon heard was when she read in the papers that her daughter had figured in an automobile accident on Cascade road.

Miss Brannon explained that after being treated at the Grady hospital she felt too ill to return home, and stayed with friends.

YOUNG AUTO THIEVES GIVEN LONG TERMS

Luther D. Ransom, 14, and Arthur G. Lock, 17, entered pleas of guilty Tuesday before Judge John D. Humphries to a charge of larceny of an automobile. Ransom was sentenced to the reformatory until he became of age. He will have to serve nearly seven years. Lock was given a sentence of from one to five years on the gang.

The youths were indicted by a Fulton county grand jury on September 29, 1925. They are alleged to have stolen an automobile from A. L. Cummings, of 516 North Jackson street, on September 21.

PEACE PLAN URGED BY BRITAIN-JAPAN

Washington, October 6.—The gods of war are receiving telling rebuffs. While President Coolidge told the American Legion at Omaha Tuesday that peace, not arms, would bring the parley of world parliamentary leaders here approved unarmed frontiers zones and unanimously called on the United States to once more summon the world to the peace table.

Enthusiasm marked the action of the interparliamentary union in agreeing to the demilitarizing zone plan advanced by the British in calling for a second disarmament conference. With notable unanimity among the 41 nations gathered, the union not only subscribed to the plan for universal peace but heard delegates of

Japan and Great Britain urge the United States to take the initiative. Japan Leads Peace Move. First of the nations to call for cessation of strife was Japan. France, Great Britain and Germany, other first class powers, quickly approved. Great Britain, through R. S. Hudson, member of parliament, declared its willingness to "join with any great powers in any conference for the further limitation of armaments or for the reduction of land armaments." "What I had in mind," he said, continuing, "was that perhaps the initiative in regard to naval matters, if they are to be treated separately, had better come from the power to which we owe the summoning of the Washington conference which resulted in the first decisive international act of disarmament that the world had seen."

Great Britain in Line. Hudson declared this view represents overwhelmingly the desires of the British empire. Fushuzuka Mayeda, member of the Japanese diet, told the assemblage that Japan is imbued with a desire to do whatever is possible to bring about world peace.

"We are ready to join hands with the other nations of the world when the call comes," he added. Competitive armaments are postponing peace, he said, and sounded the additional warning that "so long as armaments are kept in the present state, I am afraid there will be no durable peace."

One after another, delegates of the powers representing the greatest nations in the world arose in ardent support of the peace plans adopted, following a morning during which every phase, particularly of the demilitarization scheme proposed by Brigadier General Spears of Great Britain, was painstakingly discussed.

With the adoption of the peace proposals, the conference recessed until Wednesday, when it is anticipated steps will be taken to reduce import duties and remove free trade obstacles now existing between European countries.

by a team captain and vociferous cheering marked the announcement of the division totals as they were written on the blackboard.

Colonel George West, commanding the forces, called upon the major and captains for their figures, and as each stood up and made his announcement there was applause. Old men, war veterans of former campaigns, were being rivalled by the younger generation, represented by the Junior Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion.

Work will begin today at 9:30 o'clock, every team covering its territory and calling on the men not seen Tuesday. Only about one-fifth of the "prospects" were actually reached on the first day, it was reported.

One subscription reported by Chairman William Candler which was unusual in that it was unsolicited, came from Berry Collins, who was in Atlanta only a day on his way from Florida to New York. "I would like to stay and help," he said, "but I'm subscribing $500 to the fund."

Wickers were again reminded that the slogan "Put Atlanta on Your Payroll" should be carried out as far as possible, and that monthly subscription of $100 would be a lump sum payment. In making reports, however, the total for twelve months should be reported in computing totals.

Benjamin M. Blackburn, at the luncheon Tuesday submitted for approval his idea of what Atlanta's "Slogan" should be. It was "If I'm Worth While, Atlanta Has It, Or She'll Get It."

GERMANY HOLDS WHIP IN EUROPEAN PEACE

ent, looking pallid after his stroke of illness.

The more difficult questions include the problem of satisfying France and her allies, Poland and Czechoslovakia, on the matter of French military support to those countries in the event of aggression against them. The covenant of the League of Nations already covers the possibility of troops, for punitive purposes, crossing German territory if it does the soil of any other signatory.

In the operation imposing penalties against an aggressor state, as authorized by the council.

France and her eastern friends will enjoy protection general in nature once Germany subscribes to the pact, and the Germans were told to point that out today.

France wants to make a special guarantee which will supplement and reaffirm the general protection now afforded by the council.

The conversations turned on whether such a guarantee could best be attached to the Rhine pact or made a feature of the arbitration treaties between Germany and Poland and Czechoslovakia.

Both Dr. Stresemann and M. Briand emerged from the conference expressing satisfaction with the day's work, though the French foreign minister was less radiant than the German.

Dr. Stresemann said: "We are now in the position of school boys who are entering the most difficult part of their curriculum."

M. Briand answered: "Now don't expect a sensational concrete pact tonight, as the discussion has only begun."

No settlement has been reached on the problem of how, or whether France can guarantee that Poland and Czechoslovakia shall not become victims of aggressive wars.

From English sources comes the opinion that Germany cannot rightly object to France's desire to stand by her eastern allies because she was forced to make security alliances with them after the failure of the Wilsonian tripartite project for the protection of Europe.

That soviet Russia is keeping an eye on the Locarno discussions is shown by the arrival at Stresa, not far from Locarno, of M. Kerzenuoff, counselor of the soviet embassy at Rome.

It is understood that the security pact, as far as at present arranged, provides for operations after Germany enters the League of Nations.

1923 taxes was 7,698,321, as compared with 6,787,481 in the previous year, a gain of 13.2 per cent. The total net income showed an increase of 16.2 per cent, advancing from $21,336,212.364 to $24,840,137,364. There was a decrease, however, in the total amount of tax collected, which was 22.93 per cent less.

Corporation taxes showed a gain, with 398,933 returns in 1923 as compared with 382,883 in the previous year, and total taxes jumping from $783,776,268 to $937,106,798.

Proportion of Returns.

The proportion of the population filing returns for 1923 was 6.94 per cent, the per capita net income reported was $223.79 and the per capita income tax $5.98. This compares with 6.20 per cent filing returns in 1922, a per capita income reported of $194.72, and a per capita tax of $7.80.

The greatest number of returns for 1923 were filed by those with incomes between $1,000 and $2,000, a grand total of 2,515,224, with those with incomes between $2,000 and $3,000 close behind, with 2,470,970 returns.

The class which paid the most tax in 1923 included those with incomes between $50,000 and $100,000, with a total of $186,000,000. Second were those with incomes between $10,000 and $25,000, who paid $164,000,000 and third, those with incomes between $150,000 and $300,000, who contributed $163,000,000. The millionaire class paid $93,000,000.

The average net income per return for 1923 was $2,226.70, the average amount of tax $86.21 and the average tax rate 2.67 per cent.

GIRL'S LETTERS BARRED IN THE COLE HEARING

Cole as an attempt to "right a wrong," and declared that if the woman's declaration that it was a lie was not to be controverted the testimony of the physicians would be withdrawn.

The state answered that it did not have to admit anything, and charged the defense with trying to "throw a woman's character into the breach to save her father's life."

The defense rested its case at 11:05 o'clock after examining several witnesses, among them John W. Porter, about whom has centered the state's contention that Cole forced his daughter to give up her association with Ormond.

Porter Is Quizzed.

Porter, who gave his age as 33, is president and treasurer of the Steele mill, formerly owned by Cole. The state has charged throughout the case that Cole's preference for Porter as a son-in-law caused him to order Ormond to cease paying attentions to his daughter.

"Are you engaged to Miss Elizabeth Cole or have you ever been engaged to her?" was one of the first questions asked Porter by A. L. Brooks for defense.

"No, I think she is a fine girl but I am not engaged to her and never have been."

Porter said he had been a friend of the Cole family and had gone with Miss Cole. The defendant is one of his best friends, he said, and a business associate.

He testified also that Cole had suggested to him certain business arrangements should he be killed suddenly. The defense has contended that Cole feared for several weeks that Ormond would kill him on sight.

Attacks War Record.

On cross-examination, Larry Moore attacked the witness' war record and asked if Porter had not been jealous of Ormond when the latter came back from France and began calling on Miss Cole. Porter said he had claimed exemption on account of a dependent mother, but that he had answered the draft and had been turned down.

The witness said he was not of a jealous nature.

Porter admitted that he had given W. B. Leath, assistant treasurer of the Hannah Pickett mill, a copy of the "lander" letter written addressed to Cole by Ormond with the understanding that it was to be shown to a "certain party" who made remarks against Cole.

The state charged Leath while he was on the witness stand with making a trip for that purpose and attempted to obtain from him the admission that copies of the letter were circulated for the purpose of creating sentiment for Cole. The witness denied the charge and Porter testified today that the charge was untrue.

Calls Eye-witnesses.

Testimony for the purpose of corroborating other witnesses was introduced by the defense and after it had rested its case the state called eye-witnesses of the shooting.

Cole's story of the shooting was that when his eye met Ormond's the latter made a break for his car and he made a break for him. He testified that he shot Ormond while he was in the act of going for his pistol.

Every witness for the state who saw the homicide occur testified that Ormond sat in his car in a semi-reclining position with his back to Cole.

Also in support of this contention the state called Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of the State College of Agriculture and Engineering, where Ormond worked last March as an electrician.

Dr. Brooks testified that Ormond was heard of hearing and that on one occasion he had spoken to him behind his back and had not been heard.

Clyde Hoey, Shelby, will address the jury first for the prosecution. Solicitor F. Don Phillips will close for the state with Larry Moore, of Newbern, preceding him.

For the defense James H. Pou.

William D. Cooper

"For any one who suffers from any form of indigestion or a blood disorder, I can highly recommend Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery," said Wm. D. Cooper, of 1562 Fenwick St., Augusta, Ga. "For several years this is the tonic I have taken every spring and fall to keep my blood in a healthy condition. I have also found that my appetite improved and my digestive organs responded to the treatment. I believe the 'Golden Medical Discovery' has everything else beat in the way of a tonic and blood medicine and that is why I give this statement for publication."

Obtain Dr. Pierce's Discovery now in tablets or liquid from your neighborhood druggist. You will quickly feel the beneficial effect. Write Dr. Pierce, President Invalids' Hotel, in Buffalo, N. Y., for free advice. (adv.)

SCOPES JUDGE MAY RUN FOR GOVERNOR OF TENNESSEE

Evansville, Ind., October 6.—Judge John T. Raulston, who found John T. Scopes guilty of violating the Tennessee anti-evolution law at the famous Dayton trial, has been given so much publicity because of his part in the drama that he is thinking about running for governor. He discussed the prospects in a speech here in which he pointed out that he was a democrat and the incumbent, Governor Peay, a republican.

The judge then criticized Governor Peay for signing the anti-evolution bill "with an apology."

"Governor Peay did not believe the law would be supported generally, and he also thought the Scopes case would not last 30 minutes," he said.

CAMPAIGN TO MAKE 'FLAPPER' OBSOLETE AS WORD LAUNCHED

Hollywood, Cal., October 6.—"Flapper" and "Flapperism" are two terms, now in general use, that are slated to become obsolete.

Two million American girls—not flappers—started a nation-wide campaign to put the two words out of business.

Mrs. Oliver Harriman, president of the Camp Fire Girls of America, leads the fight.

"The word 'flapper' is doing our young American girls an injustice," says Mrs. Harriman. "It is the opinion generally that a 'flapper' is a cigarette-smoking, liquor-drinking girl of loose habits. We feel that it is time to protest against this silly designation that has been applied to virtually all young women, regardless of their true character."

A girl recently swam from the Battery to Sandy Hook. Some people will do anything to avoid the crowds on the excursion boats—New York American.

EXCEPTIONAL RIDING COMFORT

The riding comfort of a motor car is not dependent upon its length, weight or cost, any more than the comfort of a home depends upon its size.

If the seats are deep enough and the proper distance from the floor; if the seat backs are correctly pitched for relaxation; if the upholstery is sufficiently stuffed and there is plenty of leg room; above all, if the springs are rightly designed and of proper length, you will have exceptional riding comfort. Otherwise, you will not.

Dodge Brothers, with characteristic thoroughness, studied and experimented with these details for years. Their findings were ultimately incorporated in the design of Dodge Brothers Motor Car—without question now a vehicle that ranks with the first in this vitally important feature.

CINCINNATI

minutes late on a 900 mile journey

This is the story of an actual happening aboard one of this Railroad's thru trains from Cincinnati to New Orleans.

Upon arrival at New Orleans, a passenger, with watch in hand, complained to his fellow passengers that "trains are always late". As a matter of fact, this gentleman had left Cincinnati at 6:15 the evening before, had traveled in absolute comfort through six states, had enjoyed four splendid meals (served to him at a loss to the railroad), and had arrived at his destination, a distance of 921 miles from Cincinnati, three minutes later than schedule. This particular train has a very high "on-time" record though it is one of the heaviest in all the South.

Such complaints are, of course, very much out of the ordinary. Nevertheless, they afford an opportunity for considering the remarkable service being rendered to the people of this Nation by the steam transportation lines.

Remember that railroads are not always at fault when trains are late, and that the on-time record of railroads is very high. Seldom do the great trunk-line railroads of the Nation miss their regularly appointed schedules—an accomplishment which pays high tribute to their management and operation.

Facts about ATLANTA

The Southeastern Fair is the youngest of the great fairs in the United States. It was organized in 1915 by the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. The fair grounds are owned by the City of Atlanta.

The Executive Committee and Board of Directors of the Fair give of their time and service without charge. The officers of the Fair are F. J. Paxon, president; Ivan Allen, H. G. Hastings, Meli R. Wilkinson and J. Oscar Mills, vice presidents; R. M. Striplin, secretary; Henry W. Davis, treasurer. Mr. Allen is chairman of the executive committee.

The Boys' Fair School is conducted annually during the dates of the fair. Two boys from each county in Georgia are brought to the Fair at the expense of the Fair Association. They are camped and fed free. They are furnished teachers from the State College of Agriculture.

The 1925 Fair will bring to Atlanta the Grand Circuit Harness Racing. Three days of the Fair will be devoted to Automobile Racing. The annual Dog Show is one of the features of the Fair.

A feature of the 1925 Fair will be the Night Society Horse Show. The Infantry from Fort McPherson and the Cavalry from Fort Oglethorpe will take part in the Night Horse Show. Fancy Drills and other demonstrations will furnish thrills for all who attend the Fair. Hippodrome Acts every night will prove another feature. Brilliant Fireworks every night.

The Southern Cattleman's Convention meets in Atlanta during the Fair. Lectures will be delivered at the grounds. Live Stock growers will attend this convention from every section of the nation. The National Hog Show will also be held in connection with the 1925 Fair in Atlanta.

A state-wide Spelling Bee will be held during the Fair in the lecture tent on the Plaza. The Southeastern Singing Convention will hold a three-day session during the Fair, singing on the Fair grounds.

Special rates on all the railroads provide special inducement to the people of the Southeast to visit Atlanta during the 1925 Fair, October 8-17, and witness the greatest array of agricultural exhibits ever seen in the South.

ATLANTA

the center of a vast-rich Back Country

That Atlanta is the center of the vast Agricultural and Commercial territory of the Southeast is abundantly proved in the annual session of the Southeastern Fair, bringing to Atlanta not only the marvelous exhibits of Southern products, but furnishing the logical place for national and international exhibits of those products which are more and more finding their natural market in the rich back country of which Atlanta is the center.

The 1925 Southeastern Fair goes back to the ten-day session, the number of days having been reduced to one week during the past two or three years of financial depression. The return to the ten-day fair means a larger and better fair than ever. Atlanta regards the fair as its greatest annual event, which brings more visitors to the city than any other one occasion during the year.

Atlanta is proud of the record of the Southeastern Fair. Its record tells a graphic story of constant growth. In its ten years the fair has spent $930,000 for new buildings and improvements. The Southeastern Fair has paid $440,759.11 to the winners of premiums. That figure includes 1923, but not 1924. By the end of the 1925 fair the total amount of money paid to winners of premiums will exceed $600,000.

The first ten years of the Southeastern Fair, 1915-1924, has cost $1,340,748.33. The revenue of the fair for the same period was $1,516,216.85. It is, therefore, a successful enterprise and is paying its way. The fine financial showing of the fair, as illustrated in these figures, is due to two things: First, the loyal support of the City of Atlanta, the County of Fulton, and the people in Atlanta and throughout the Southeast; Second, the indefatigable service of a group of Atlanta's leading business men who have given freely of their time and thought in the direction of the fair.

Atlantans are urged to attend the fair this year as often as possible, but especially on "Atlanta Day," October 14th. On that day it is hoped that not less than twenty thousand Atlantans will see the great panorama of the Nation's products at Lakewood. Let's unite in this expression of Atlanta's appreciation of her great fair.

Vice-President Dawes will attend the fair this year, thus giving to the 1925 fair the prominence of recognition by our Government. Atlanta believes in the fair. Georgia believes in the fair. The Southeast believes in the fair. The Nation believes in the fair. A cordial invitation is extended the public to come and see for themselves.

Bridal Parties Honored at Lovely Buffet-Suppers

Miss Pauline Ware was hostess at a buffet supper at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Ware, on Piedmont avenue, Tuesday evening as a compliment to Miss Arabella Dudley and Joseph Walker, whose wedding will be an interesting social event of this evening.

The supper was given prior to the rehearsal for the wedding, and included only the members of the wedding party.

The home was beautifully decorated and a color scheme of pink and white was carried out in all the details. The table in the dining room was overlaid with an exquisite cover of fluted and cut-work embroidery and held as a central decoration a silver chalice burned in silver candle holders at the four corners of the table.

Mrs. A. B. Ware assisted her daughter in entertaining. Miss white lace gown, worn over white satin robe.

Ewing-Kimbro Party. Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Ewing were hosts at a buffet supper at their home in Ormewood Park Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Nettie Orelia Ewing, whose marriage to William Llewellyn Kimbro will be an interesting event taking place this evening at the home at 8:30 o'clock.

The supper followed the rehearsal for the wedding, and the home was beautifully decorated with a profusion of fall flowers. A color scheme of pink and white was daintily carried out in the details.

The guests included only the members of the wedding party and immediate families.

byerian study, Rev. B. R. Lacy, Jr., officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Donald left for a motor trip to North Carolina. On their return they will make their home for the present with Mr. Donald's parents, 72 South Georgia street.

Berean Class To Be Entertained. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Bible will entertain the Berean class of the Ponce de Leon Avenue Methodist church Tuesday evening at their home, 23 Matthews place.

St. John Church To Hear Choir. The King's Daughters' class of St. John M. E. church, Georgia and Central avenue, will present Big Bethel choir in a concert Friday evening, October 9, at 8 o'clock. Admission 25 cents. Proceeds to go toward pipe organ fund.

Evelyn Jackson P. T. A. To Meet. The Parent-Teacher association of the Evelyn Jackson School of music will meet Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock at the residence of Mrs. N. E. Morgan, No. 735 Ponce de Leon avenue.

Madame Easton To Open Fine Arts Program. A brilliant audience will greet Madame Florence Easton in her first concert appearance in Atlanta, Tuesday evening, October 13, at the auditorium. Officers and members of the Fine Arts club will act as patronesses and the boxes will be filled by the society. Concerts, mail orders indicate a distinguished audience from the neighboring cities at this first notable musical event of the season. The tickets are now on sale at Phillips & Crew's and are offered at popular prices so that all music lovers may hear this famous artist.

Florence Easton, through her brilliant work at the Metropolitan opera house has given the public a reasonable chance to measure her talents. To take but an example, her notable singing of Elsa in Mr. Gatti's revival of "Lohengrin" in English has enabled musical people to get a rather exact rating of her powers, especially when it comes to singing in our mother tongue.

Everyone in New York who has had a hand in the movement for opera in English is no doubt treasuring up this performer's success as Elsa in this argument in favor of translated librettos. For if one artist can do as well as Miss Easton has done, singing the role of Elsa in English, why should not all opera artists appearing before audience in the United States use a vernacular text?

The Fine Arts club of Atlanta will present Madame Easton in concert, Tuesday evening, October 13 at the Auditorium-Armory. Tickets now on sale at Phillips & Crew's.

Baptist Hospital Auxiliary To Meet. The regular meeting of the Women's auxiliary of the Georgia Baptist hospital will be held next Friday morning, October 9, at the hospital at 10:30 o'clock.

Plans for the new hospital will be discussed and all are earnestly invited to be present.

"Glad Girls" Bible Class Meets. The "Glad Girls" class of the Clarkston Baptist Sunday school held their regular monthly business-social meeting Saturday, September 26, at the home of Miss Mozella Moore. Business included election of a second and their vice president, as follows: Miss Mozella Moore, president, and Miss Eunice Knackolls third vice president.

The class adopted constitution of new articles covering name, object of membership, officers, elections, meetings, relation to Sunday school, relation to preaching services and amendments.

Songs were sung and kodak pictures made. Delightful refreshments were served by the mother of the hostess.

Boulevard Park Auxiliary To Meet. A meeting of the executive board of the Boulevard Park auxiliary will be held on Thursday, October 8, at 10 o'clock, at the residence of Mrs. Raymond H. Wolfe, president, No. 108 Park drive.

Important matters will come up at this meeting, and all officers and chairmen of the executive board are urged to be present.

Barton-Donald Wedding Announced. A marriage of interest to many friends was that of Miss Kathleen Barton to Ralph W. Donald, Saturday, October 3, at the Central Presbyterian church in Fitzgerald.

Amy Polo Games To Be Sponsored By Federation

The Atlanta Federation of Women's Clubs will act as sponsors for the game of polo to be played between the polo team of the 22nd Infantry, U. S. A., and the Governor's Horse Guards of the state national guard on October 11 at Fort McPherson.

A part of the proceeds will be given to Tallulah Falls school, through the chairman of the different committees and departments of the federation and the presidents of all the federated clubs, the trustees of Tallulah Falls school, Mrs. J. K. Otley, president of the board of trustees, and a number of others have been asked to serve as patrons and sponsors of the game together with the officers and their wives.

There will be music by the band at the post and many other interesting features besides the game of polo. The public is cordially invited.

Girl Scouts' Hut. A motion was made and seconded to give the Girl Scouts $150 in addition to the $150 given last year to pay for a hut, which is to be called the Junior League hut.

Mrs. Newman, president, said although the league, which is in charge of the boxes for the horse show to be given at the Southeastern fair beginning October 8, had sold a great many boxes, that there were still some to be sold, and urged the girls to see that every box was taken.

The boxes are $24 a season, three nights, and eight seats in a box, or $8 a night, and can be had through Mrs. Newman or any member of the league.

It was announced that the Junior League Musical Review, under the direction of Ned Newman, will be given at the Atlanta theater the week of April 12, instead of April 5, as announced at the last meeting. Mrs. Eugene Harrington, who successfully maneuvered the Follies last year, has again consented to be chairman for this committee.

Members Present. Following the meeting tea was served. The following members were present: Mrs. Dana Belser, Mrs. Julian Barrett, Mrs. John O. ## Miss Morgan Weds Mr. Burke At Brilliant Church Ceremony

Of widest social prominence was the wedding of Miss Margaret Morgan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Morgan, and Edwin Burke, which was a brilliant event taking place Tuesday evening at 8:30 o'clock at the North Avenue Presbyterian church.

During the seating of the guests by the ushers, J. F. Heath and Warren Brice, of Charlotte, N. C., Toulman Hurt and Rudolph Kraft, a delightful musical program was rendered.

The church was most artistically decorated with palms, evergreens and foliage plants. The wedding party entered the church and passed down the center aisle to the altar, before which the ceremony was performed by the Rev. Richard Orme Elin. The altar was transformed into a bower of loveliness with its gorgeous array of greenery, barked to a great height, used as a background for the baskets of magnificent lilies, which were placed on each side and at the center back. Brass cathedral candelabra, in which burned tall white tapers, were placed amid the palms. The choir loft was garlanded with southern smilax and bunches of lilies and swainsona were tied at intervals to the rail with white tulle.

Near the altar a beautiful canopy of tiny white roses with sprays of lily of the valley and swainsona, with small electric lights, cast a soft glow over this unusually lovely scene, the couple plighted their troth to the strains of haunting sweetness of mellow music that drifted from the organ.

Bridal Attendants. As the first notes from the bridal chorus from "Lohengrin" were played the wedding party entered the church. First to enter were the ushers, who entered in pairs, and took their places on either side of the altar. The bridesmaids followed the ushers and came in pairs also. They were Miss Gray Deans, of Wilson, N. C.; Miss Margaret Nelson, Miss Martha Boynton and Miss Erskine Jarnagin.

The bridesmaids were gowns fashioned alike of coral-colored chiffon trimmed with rhinestones and silver. They were made along straight lines with full pieces from the waist down in the front. Placed on the left shoulder were dainty sprays of French flowers. With these lovely gowns they wore silver slippers and flesh-colored hose. Their flowers were resplendent arm bouquets of coral-colored lilies, Opheelia yellow, and pink roses, swainsona and delphinium tied with silver ribbon.

After the bridesmaids came the maid of honor, Miss Florence Burke, of Buffalo, N. Y., sister of the groom. She was a lovely figure and wore a gown like the bridesmaids and carried a bouquet the same as theirs.

Matron of Honor. The matron of honor, Mrs. Brooks

Morgan, mother of the bride, was the next to enter. She was quite handsome in her beautiful gown of coral-colored satin made along straight lines and trimmed with rhinestones and silver. Her flowers were the same as the other attendants.

Just preceding the bride came the dainty flower girl, little Miss Julia Block, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. E. Bates Block. She wore a charming little frock of cream lace over flesh-colored silk. Wending her way down the aisle she scattered the path of the bride with rose petals from a graceful basket carried on her arm.

Dressed in a white satin suit, Master Bates Block, son of Dr. and Mrs. E. Bates Block, carried the long graceful train for the bride.

Radiant Bride. The bride entered with her father, Brooks Morgan, by whom she was given in marriage, and was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, James Stewart Dowd, of Charlotte, N. C. She presented a beautiful picture in her exquisite wedding gown of ivory-tinted satin which had a dainty yoke of rose point lace, the neck of which was bateau in shape. The front of the skirt was circular and the gown had a beautiful trimming of rhinestones and pearls. From the shoulders fell a long train at graceful length. The misty white tulle veil was caught to her head with sprays of orange blossoms in a fashion particularly becoming to her beautiful beauty. It fell airy effect to the end of the train of her wedding gown. Her flowers were a magnificent arm bouquet of lilies and swainsona.

Informal Reception. Following the ceremony at the church there was an informal reception at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Brooks Morgan on Peachtree road for the wedding party and members of the immediate families.

The home was beautifully decorated, a motive of green and white being carried out. Artistic bowls of white roses, lilies and swainsona were placed on mantels, tables and consoles.

Mr. and Mrs. Morgan, with the bride and groom and members of the wedding party, received the guests.

In the dining room the table was covered with an exquisite cloth and held as a central decoration a mound of white roses fringed with valley

Uncle Ray's Corner Strikes of 3,500 Years Ago.

It was the custom in ancient Egypt to pay workmen on the first of each month. They usually received wheat, oil and other things needed for themselves and their families. Not seldom did a family run out of food before it was time for another pay day. Moved by their hunger the men complained, and asked for more food. Sometimes they declared that they had been cheated by the scribes who doled out their wages. Records left by scribes prove that it was a common practice for the scribes to give short weight. If their demands were not met, the men might quit their work.

One record tells how a hundred masons working on a temple at Thebes stopped their labor. Going to the man who had charge of building the temple, they shouted:

"We are hungry, and there are 18 days before the first of next month."

"Go back to your work," the superintendent told them, "and I promise you that I will lead you to Pharaoh when he comes to look at the temple."

Two days later, the monarch arrived. He sent one of his scribes to the workmen to hear their side of the case. To the scribe the workmen said:

"We are hungry. We are thirsty. We have no more clothes, no more oil, no more fish. Tell this to Pharaoh, our master."

After this message was delivered, the men were given 50 sacks of grain to divide among themselves.

Five days passed, and the masons worked quietly. Then their food ran short again, and they began to grumble. The following day they stopped work. Threats could not make them return to their tasks. For three days, they did not work and received no food from the scribes. At last they seized several of the scribes and dragged them down a street, to the house of the governor of Thebes.

Frightened by their angry shouts, a scribe of 3,500 Years Ago, the governor promised to give them food "later."

"We want food now!" the masons shouted back. "If we don't get it, we don't move from this place."

The governor saw that the masons meant what they said, and ordered his steward to give them grain from the storehouse. This action ended the strike.

The labor trouble at the Thebes temple came about almost 3,500 years ago. It is probably the first strike of workmen for which a complete record has been kept.

black tweed. With this she wore a tan velvet hat.

Prominent Families.

Mrs. Burke is the granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Block, who were among Atlanta's pioneer and influential citizens. Her paternal grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. William G. Morgan, of Lexington, Ky., were prominently identified with the upbuilding of that state and representatives of distinguished southern families.

The beautiful young bride is a popular member of Atlanta society. She was formally introduced at an elaborate reception two years ago and an admitted member of the 1923 Debutante club. As a member of the Junior League she has been active in the social service work sponsored by the league and was an enthusiastic and popular member of the 1925 "Follies" cast, given under the auspices of the Junior League.

She attended Mary Baldwin seminary at Staunton, Va., where she graduated in art, continuing her education at the fashionable Miss Beard's school, East Orange, N. J.

Mr. Burke is the son of Francis T. Burke, of Buffalo, N. Y., and the nephew of the late Rev. M. A. Burke, bishop of Albany, N. Y. The groom attended Canisius college, Buffalo, N. Y.

He entered the world war in 1916, serving with the Canadian forces, later serving with the American air forces in France.

He has resided in Atlanta for the past six years and is assistant manager of the Atlanta office of the Standard Sanitary Manufacturing company and a member of the Piedmont Driving club and Capital City club.

WOMAN SENTENCED TO STATE PRISON FOR SELLING RUM

Mrs. Fannie Lewis, who operates a restaurant at 212 Piedmont avenue, Tuesday was given a straight sentence of ten months at the state farm by Judge Jesse Wood in the criminal court of Atlanta. She was found guilty by a jury on a charge of violating the prohibition law.

Letters written by citizens to Acting Chief E. L. Jett, of the city police department and to Fred S. Dismuke, of the federal prohibition department, complaining of the violation of the prohibition law at the restaurant, were introduced in court.

Mrs. Lewis has twice before been convicted of violating the prohibition law in the criminal court of Atlanta. The first charge was tried on March 23, 1923. She was given a fine of $50 or six months' suspended sentence.

She appeared before the court on February 21, 1923, and was fined $200 or 12 months' suspended.

Joanna Says:

There's many a flapper with shingled hair and open-work knees who cries like blazes when a man she likes won't stay square.

If you'll just take an up-to-date girl as she is, whatever and however, you'll make a d—d good bargain. And safe, too.

Men that only women like usually are rotters. That goes, too, for women that only men like.

She appeared before the court on February 21, 1923, and was fined $200 or 12 months' suspended.

BEAUTY CHATS

BY EDNA M. FORBES.

THE SHAMPOO.

You may think shampooing your hair is an easy matter, merely using a lot of soap and rinsing it several times—until you begin brushing your dry hair to find the bristles of your brush covered with a grayish film. Then you'll realize that a home shampoo is a difficult procedure.

However, if you take these precautions, it won't be hard, and your brush and comb will not collect the gray, greasy film which is nothing but oil and dirt not entirely washed out of the hair. Also your hair will be in better health.

Always use soft water. This is Rule One and is imperative. If you can possibly use rain water, do so. It seems such a shame that every roof collects rain, and runs it off into the ground or a sewer, when, next to pure water, it is the softest and most cleansing water there is for washing. If the water is hard, use water softeners.

Use tar or castile soap, melt it with hot water to make a liquid and use this liquid on the hair. Never rub a cake of soap directly on the hair; this is Rule Two. Rule Three is, use soap three times, rinsing off each time; and Rule Four is, rinse through four or five waters if you haven't a hose to sluice through the hair.

For dandruff, rub the scalp with oil the way before, so that the oil will have a chance to soak into the skin. Beat up an egg half an hour or an hour before you shampoo and rub this into the scalp. Do this anyway if you can; the dry egg frees the scalp of all scurf, dirt and dandruff, making the washing and rinsing easier and leaves the hair absolutely clean and glossy. Besides, the sulphur in the egg makes the scalp healthy.

D. W. K.—Cocoa butter is such a heavy oil you could apply it to the roots of the lashes. However, if you use more than a trifle it would get into your eyes and cause a great deal of smarting. Another reason for not using it, is the fact that it is so heavy it may clog the pores and attract soil, and it is this combination that leads to superfluous hair.

You can overcome the nail-biting habit by painting a wee bit of bitter aloes under the tip of the nails, just enough to remind you of your good resolution each time you forget.

Than By Any Other Medicine for Woman's Ills

All Ailing Women Will Be Interested in the Following Unsolicited Testimonials

HEALTH IMPROVED WONDERFULLY
"I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and find it has improved my health wonderfully. For months and months I was not regular and had terrible pains. They used to affect my side so I could not work. I am strong enough to do my housework now and have two dear babies to care for besides."—Mrs. T. H. Fuller, Walpole, N. H.

WAS A MERE SHADOW
"When I first started with the Compound I was a mere shadow. My health seemed to be gone. The last doctor I had said he would give me no more treatments. That was when I gave the doctors up. Now I am a healthy robust woman. I wish I could tell the world what a wonderful medicine Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound is."—Mrs. J. A. Jones, 317 Colley Ave., Norfolk, Va.

NERVOUS, SICKLY, AND PAIN IN SIDES
"I was nervous—had inflammation, pains in sides and sickly after my last baby was born. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound restored my health and made me well. It is the best medicine for sick women in the world. It surely did put me on my feet again."—Mrs. James Miles, 419 Cherry Street, Dover, Ohio.

NOW WELL AND STRONG
"I cannot begin to tell you how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me. Before taking it I couldn't stand on my feet without pains running all through my whole body from my waist down just like threads pulling. I was not fit to do any work. Now I am well and strong."—Mrs. Ruth Fullerton, 525 South 2nd Street, Clearfield, Pa.

JACKETS DEAL DESTRUCTION TO PENN STATE PLAYS

Tech Varsity Shows Strong Defense; Barron Intercepts Forward Pass for 80-Yd. Run

BY GEORGE CONGDON.

Either Kid Clay, eagle-eyed scout of Georgia Tech, missed his stuff when he viewed Penn State's gridiron antics, or Coach Alexander's Tech varsity is going to be mighty mean material for the Nittany Lion to conquer in the Yankee stadium, or anywhere else, for that matter, this coming Saturday in the Torrida's only invasion of the east.

The Tech varsity claved up Grant field, several scrubs and many sweat shirts Tuesday afternoon in scrimmage against scrubs using a lightning like huddle system for signals and the plays that Penn State used to elude out 14 to 0 victory over Lebanon college Saturday.

The scrimmage is best understood when it is recounted that the varsity played on the defensive except for three plays at the end of the tussle, and made first downs on defense by throwing the scrub Penn Staters for losses every time they carried the oval. That sounds complicated. But it isn't. The varsity simply did its damndest. The varsity actually advanced the ball from its own 20-yard line to the scrubs' 25-yard line without even touching the ball. Tackles, ends, center and backs dove in and nailed the scrubs for a loss except on two or three occasions.

Scrubs Gain Only Once.
Only once during the scrimmage did the scrubs show signs of making yardage on Penn State plays they were running. That was near the end of the scrimmage when the varsity line was filled with substitutes. Then the scrubs got through and managed to make a first down that brought them to the varsity's 10-yard line. There the varsity line, filled with subs, held until fourth down.

On fourth down the scrubs tried a typical Penn State forward pass, a short one just over the line of scrimmage. Carter Barron, flashy half-back find, leaped into the air, hauled down the pass, and legged it 80 yards through the scrubs to their 10-yard line. Then the varsity took the ball over on two plays. One buck was unsuccessful, but Barron crossed the last line on a drive through right tackle.

Merkle got his share of work at end during the scrimmage, but Irwin took the plenty of work, too, so Irwin may be the starting left end in Saturday's New York game.

Poole Showing Well.
Owen Poole showed mighty well in the scrimmage Tuesday. Little has been said of Poole this year. Maybe it has been because the guards and tackles have been doing their share as they did not do it last year. At any rate, Poole has been dumping the center of opposing lines on defense regularly this season and in the scrimmage yesterday when the runner evaded guards and tackles on the inside, Poole generally made the tackle. The line left little for backs to do in tackling yesterday.

On the other hand, much has been set down in type on the change in

AILEEN GUY WINS KY. FUTURITY

Lexington, Ky., October 6.—(AP)—Aileen Guy, driven by Ben White, won the $14,000 Kentucky futurity here today in featureless style. In each heat she was the winner over her opposition without apparent effort, having a comfortable margin over Guy Ozark. It was White's fourth victory in the stake and the third one in four years.

The LaFayette stake for 2:00 pacers at 7-8 of a mile went to Ribbon Cane, premier stake pacer of the year. The big surprise came in the 2:12 pace in which Miss Car Moko was an overwhelming favorite but in which the Canadian mare Jean Grattan was first in each heat. The second round paced in 2:17 1-4, equalled the world's record for pacers for the distance. Braden Ruler was second, the favorite dropping back to third. The consistent trotter, Osawanna, was easily best of the 2:06 trot.

Because of wind and of the day being little too cool, White postponed his tilt against the match with Mr. McElwyn until tomorrow.

CUBS MAY GET STALLINGS AS PILOT

New York, October 6.—(AP)—Announcement of the selection of George Stallings to succeed George Gibson as manager of the Chicago Nationals is expected here shortly by baseball men who claim to have reliable information that Stallings already has come to terms with President William Weir of the club.

Failure of the Chicago club to improve under Maranville, who was replaced by Gibson as temporary manager, is seen here as a plausible excuse for another change in management.

Boston Trades A. G. Felix, Jess Barnes and O'Neil; Deal Made Without Money

Pittsburg, Pa., October 6.—(AP)—A deal between the Brooklyn and Boston National league clubs by which the Braves receive Outfielder Eddie Brown, Catcher Zack Taylor and Infielder Jimmy Johnston for Pitcher Jess Barnes, Catcher Mickey O'Neil and Outfielder A. G. Felix, was reportedly reported to have been closed here today.

Formal announcement of the deal, one of the biggest major league transactions in some time, was withheld by Wilbert Robinson, manager-president of the Brooklyn club, but it was understood "Robbie" had consummated it with Emil F. Fuchs, vice president of the Braves.

No money was involved in the trade, it was said.

O'Neil and Taylor are regarded among the leading backstops in the National league. Barnes, a veteran right-handed twirler, went to Boston from New York in 1923. Johnston also has had long major league experience, filling many roles with Brooklyn. Brown and Felix are comparative newcomers.

THREE PITCHERS
SIX WITH ROBINS.
New York, October 6.—(AP)—Three pitchers signed contracts with the Brooklyn National for the 1926 playing season. The players, who were announced today, are: W. C. Ehrhardt and Guy Cantrell.

RAIN MORE LIKELY TODAY
All Celebrities Ready, However, For Fair Weather
THAN BALL GAME, SAYS PEG

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Pittsburg, October 6.—With expert strokes of his coal miners' pick, the official who takes the blame for the weather in this part of the country will hack a peep-hole in the very substantial atmosphere of Pittsburg Wednesday morning and peruse the signs in the skies.

The signs in the skies of Pittsburg never can be described as light reading and they were even more melancholy than usual at sundown, Tuesday, sundown being like prohibition, a political figure of speech in this region.

Even the weather supply sergeant remarked, is one of the things that Pittsburg is likely to have most of on Wednesday and a world series ball game between the Pirates and Senators is the one thing that Pittsburg is least likely to celebrate.

Collisions Tell of Weather.
Even as he spoke these words from the streets the musical clank of tinware as automobile fenders crashed and crumpled in traffic collisions in the slippery perpendicular highways. The patter of rain on the sidewalks made symphony with the festive splash of a very sincere brew on sale in the sportsbars.

Ever and anon there came the dull thump of pick-axe blows as some homing bird, in a session of strategy of anthracite atmosphere, chopped his way through, or some frugal household needing fuel to fire the range in the parlor, drew a few front porch to mine a few hods of Pennsylvania coal out of the air.

Both of the teams had taken some exercise during the afternoon to be prepared for the improbable event of a ball game on the morrow and the visiting squad of squatters' claims on the plush divans in the hotel lobby.

Johnson Has Lame Foot.
Walter Johnson, a gentle giant with a suffering expression, had flapped his famous arm in a session of throwing and as he ambled down the runway in muff. After the workout reported that all was well with him except some lameness in his right foot. Inasmuch as Johnson does very little booting on the ball field, he will not be hampered in his style by a loose foot.

I guess I did too much jogging.
Walter thought, "I've been doing some road work the last few days to keep fit and pulled a muscle a little bit."

There was a slight disturbance at the portal of the Hotel Schenley, the world series headquarters, when Garry Herrmann appeared and several hundred loving friends rushed to welcome him, shouting: "Where are the keys?"

Garry Came Without Keys.
"I came among you as one without a key," said Mr. Herrmann in a very sad voice. "Every since that time they took the keys away from the Cincinnati boys in St. Louis, I go without keys. Anyway, why should one bring keys to Pittsburg?"

Mr. Herrmann has been the same since the key episode in St. Louis, a tragedy that will never be forgotten while sporting blood flows in Cincinnati. One detected a hint of moisture in Mr. Herrmann's eye as he recalled the seizure of the 40 keys.

Most of the ball players on both teams and a large squad of others from teams not concerned in the world series are devoting themselves more or less strenuously to literature and the clatter of the typewriter is sounded until late in the night through the halls of the Morrow-Field apartments where the Senators

What's that they said?

He was just entering the locker room at his club. From back of one of the tiers came voices: some men were talking about him. He had heard his name mentioned.

They had also said something about a certain advertising campaign. Then the conversation died away.

Jenkins suspected who the men were. Yet he was too sensitive a fellow to investigate. It ruined his game that day but started him thinking.

You, yourself, rarely know when you have halitosis (unpleasant breath). That's the insidious thing about it. And even your closest friends won't tell you.

Sometimes, of course, halitosis comes from some deep-seated organic disorder that requires professional advice. But usually—and fortunately—halitosis is only a local condition that yields to the regular use of Listerine as a mouth wash and gargle. It is an interesting thing that this well-known antiseptic that has been in use for years for surgical dressings, possesses these unusual properties as a breath deodorant. It puts you on the safe and polite side.

Listerine halts food fermentation in the mouth and leaves the breath sweet, fresh and clean. Not by substituting some other odor but by really removing the old one. The Listerine odor itself quickly disappears.

This safe and long-trusted antiseptic has dozens of different uses; note the little circular that comes with every bottle. Your druggist sells Listerine in the original brown package only—never in bulk. There are four sizes: 14 ounce, 7 ounce, 3 ounce and 1 1/2 ounce. Buy the large size for economy.—Lambert Pharmaceutical Company, St. Louis, U.S.A.

A CHALLENGE
We'll make a little wager with you that if you try one tube of Listerine Tooth Paste, you'll come back for more.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
New York, October 6.—Joe Humphreys, whose husky Edgewood also first resounded on the atmosphere of pugilism as an announcer at a fight between Eddie Curry and Billy O'Connell, will yodel his thirty-fifth anniversary number at a bout between Eddie Mascart, of France, and Lew Hurley, of New York, at the last fight arena, Brooklyn, on the night of October 19.

Since the death of Billy Jordan, the western crier with the white walrus moustache and the protuberant abdomen, Humphreys has been the Caruso and the Demosthenes of the ring, selling the identity, discomfit and other intelligence concerning champions and preliminary boys from a thousand bloody squares of canvas in the eastern zone year after year. He has garbled the names of Battling Levinsky and Joe Scapato and he spent two weeks in a French class learning to speak the name of the challenger ardent when George Carpenter was to meet Jack Dempsey, only to call him George S. Carpenter when the crisis arrived. More lately, old Joe delivered a poetic apostrophe to the bronze diana who pinquined on the tow of the old garden, on the Eve of the fight beneath her disinterested presence. Still more lately he established a new record for something by introducing Battling Siki as the astounding Senegalese.

Although his inflection has even been somewhat indelicate, his volume has always been thunderously abundant and it was Humphreys who remarked in a patronizing way that the radio wouldn't be a success because it couldn't carry far enough.

As a festive exercise on the night of his anniversary, Humphreys will undertake to make himself heard above the ordinary conversational tone of wild Will Lyons, the referee during the afternoon to be, and semi-professional friend of Jack Dempsey. The senator will be engaged in comment by Age Yea, selling the identity, discomfit and other intelligence concerning champions and preliminary boys from a thousand bloody squares of canvas in the eastern zone year after year. Pittsburg, October 6.—With rainy weather threatening to delay the start, both the Pirates and Senators are pawing the tiled floors of the hotel lobbies, awaiting the opening of the 1925 world series, scheduled to get under way at Forbes field Wednesday.

Manager Bill McKeechie, of the Pirates, announced tonight that Lee Meadows would pitch against Walter Johnson in the first game regardless of the day. His original plans were to switch to Ray Kremer, fast ball hurler, if the day was dull and unfavorable for a curve ball workman.

Washington players are praying for favorable weather, although the forecast from the weather man says "more rain." The Senators are in great shape and do not want a forced tie before action. They put in a two-hour practice session at noon.

Bucky Harris leading his champs on the field and at bat. Their casualty list, which caused the speculators to lean to the Pirates, has practically vanished.

Manager Harris' finger is still swollen but he was fielding and throwing in form during the drill. Occasionally he shook his fingers after taking a healthy rap of the ball, indicating that the injury still gave him a little pain.

Coveleskie Sure of Self. Stanley Coveleskie is so sure of himself that he has laid wagers that he will start Thursday's game. His back, which has been ailing him for the past week and caused alarm in the Senators' camp, is well. He had plenty of stuff on his slants in pitching for batting practice here. There was a slight kink in his delivery which should be worked out before Thursday.

The Pirates held batting practice before the Washington club took possession of the diamond. Their afternoon's workout, however, was stopped by the rain shortly after the players began limbering up.

Barney Dreyfuss, out to see his employees in their final practice, hastened to direct the covering of the field. He is prepared to hold the game tomorrow even if it rains most of the night before stopping.

In case a postponement is necessary the series will simply be moved back another day or as many days as it is necessary to postpone action. The first two games will be played here and the next three in Washington.

Home Run Speculation. There is much speculation to the home run possibilities with the new bleachers built around the entire outfield here. Throughout the Washington batting drill Tuesday Goslin and Judge were shooting at the right field stands and both succeeded in dropping several clouts there, while Joe Harris, who will start in right field for the Senators, hit a home run into left field seats.

Players on both clubs declared that the distance to the right field stands is deceiving. The stands are built of new pine boards and would give the batters a glare with the sun bright. Since the sun seldom gets through the smoke screen around Forbes field, that can hardly be declared a handicap.

The Washington batters say that left and right fields here are slightly different. The center field stands are a trifle farther than at Griffith stadium.

Meadows did not warm his arm today. He was out for the Washington practice and became a spectator as Johnson tuned up his smoke ball, pitching to Muddy Ruel for several minutes. Walter had plenty of speed. He is in the best physical condition he has attained in several years.

"I have prepared for this series exactly as a fighter trains for a championship battle," explained Walter after trainer Mike Martin said he had enough. "I feel just great, too," he continued. "If I don't make good tomorrow, then it just isn't me, for I never felt better."

Bucky Harris said all his pitchers were in shape for immediate action. "But, how's Coveleskie's back?" he was asked.

"He's ready. If you don't believe it, just ask him. Where's Covey?" Peck explained that Covey was out pitching for batting practice.

Makes Sure of Control. "Who told him to pitch to batters?" asked Harris. To which Peck replied: "He wanted the job. He wants to make sure of his control before the second game."

Everyone seems to think the series outcome depends upon Covey being in condition, so this incident may serve to clear up the situation.

Dutch Ruether will start the third contest in Washington. That is Harris' plan now. In all probability Tom Zachary will be used for relief.

CORNELL U. BUILDS HOMES FOR MENTORS

A permanent home for football coaches will be built close to the Cornell University campus. Graduate Manager Romyer Berry announced recently. This plan is in fulfillment of a clause in a ten-year contract made with Coach Gilman Dobbs in 1923. The home will remain in the ownership of the Cornell Athletic association to be maintained for coaches. The plan of presenting houses as gifts, as in the case of Jack Mackley, Cornell mentor, and the late Charles E. Courtney, has been discontinued.

EASTERN CO-EDS PLAY LACROSSE AND HOCKEY

Leading women coaches and players are among 600 enthusiasts of field hockey and lacrosse spending this month at Mount Pocono, Pa., in gaining additional knowledge and experience in the games which are among the most popular sports among eastern girls high schools and colleges.

CLEVELAND POND GOOD FOR 600 BALES

One of the ponds with which the Westwood Country club golf course, Cleveland, Ohio, is interspersed was "opened up" the other day and is reported to have given up over 600 golf balls. Figuring an average of 75 cents per ball, this would be a loss of something like $450 to unwary players whose tee shots were short.

Senators To Beat Bucs With Pitching, Says Harris

They Lead Flag Winners Into Title Opener Today

STANLEY HARRIS.

Twenty-nine years of age. Six years in the major leagues. All that time with Washington. Manager of that team since January, 1924. Second baseman most of career.

Ranks as one of greatest second basemen in the game. Is the pivot man in the greatest double play combination in baseball.

Is the "spark plug" of his club. Is not normally a .300 hitter but known as a dangerous and timely hitter. Hit .333 in last year's world's series.

Is speedy base runner. As a manager has already won fame as a master strategist and a daring leader. Is credited with outgeneraling the master mind, McGraw, in the 1924 series.

Normally rules with good fellowship and light hand. Does not hesitate to fine offending players real money, however, when disobedience or laxity becomes serious.

BY NORMAN E. BROWN. The coming world's series will see managers of two entirely different types waging a battle for supremacy.

On one hand will be Stanley Harris, master strategist, a man who surprises the baseball world as a "fundamentalist," a man who likes best to play a straight line game.

Harris, in his Washington team, has a great collection of men who are masters of "inside baseball." He himself forms the pivot in what is admittedly the smoothest working, brainiest infield in baseball. At short he has the old master, Roger Peckinpah, just voted the most valuable man to his club in the American league.

On his pitching staff Harris has Walter Johnson, the greatest pitcher in the game has known. Backing them up he has Fred Marberry, the game's greatest relief pitcher—whose "opening up" his game—getting more versatility in his attack and more science in his defense. Some attribute this change entirely to the presence of Fred Clarke, old Pirate outfielder and ex-manager of the team, on the bench.

McKeechie Changes Style. It is probable, however, that McKeechie was well alive to the necessity of coaching his team in the "modern" style of play to cope with the Washington tactics. The Pirates' driving attack was sufficient to win the pennant. It was only after McKeechie and his aides became sure of the fact that they might be meeting Harris' men in the fall melees that McKeechie gave thought to this style of play.

Wherein he showed his keenness as a pilot. There is no doubt, of course, but what Clarke is playing a big part in the development of this more versatile style.

However, when the two teams meet in Pittsburg the afternoon of October 7 it will be the fundamentalist against the modernist.

Harris Men Best Hitters. Harris leads the best batting team—as a team—in the American league. The same strategy is indicated by the batting figures. His team won the championship with fewer runs, fewer homers, fewer hits than the Pittsburgh Pirates recorded. In his own league the Browns and Tigers outbatted his men by many blows and runs—only to see these "socks" go glimmering.

McKeechie's men also lead their league in batting, as a team. They outscored every other club in the National league. They out-hit every team. And they laced out almost half again as many homers as did the Senators.

Those who have followed closely the activities of the Pirates this season have remarked of late, however, on the manner in which McKeechie has been "opening up" his game—getting

WATTERS HERE FOR FAIR RACES

Johnny Watters, world-famed Frontenac driver and the pilot who made his name in the world's speed king, bite the dust in a recent Hawthorne speedway distance event, limped into Atlanta late yesterday afternoon to unload his speedy Frontenac which he has entered in one of the greatest races that are slated as the feature attraction next Friday and Saturday at the Southeastern fair.

Watters broke crankshaft in his car last Saturday at Memphis during a vain effort to overtake the flying Canadian, Emory Collins, who was leading the field in one of the greatest speed battles ever staged over a half-mile track in the south.

The veteran driver also sports a broken ankle acquired in a recent wreck, but he says that both ankle and the little Frontenac will be in A-1 condition for the week-end events.

Louis Disbrow, veteran Dusenberg driver, four times dirt track champion of the world and one of the greatest speed merchants in the thrilling sports, is also in town ready to tune up the Fiat mount that he has entered locally. Disbrow's latest exploit in the racing world was to set a new Massachusetts state record.

Fred Horey, twice world-track champion and one of the Miller special entrants to the Lakewood races, is slated to arrive in town this afternoon.

Mike Joan LeCosta, world champion woman driver who is to take part in the Lakewood events Saturday, October 17, was in town yesterday and looked over the Lakewood track, estimating the possibilities of breaking her own world mile record.

LITTLE WORLD SERIES RESUMES

Baltimore, October 6.—(AP)—With the game count standing two-all, the Baltimore International league champions and the Louisville Colonels, titleholders in the American association, tomorrow will resume hostilities for the minor league baseball championship.

Following final workouts at Oriole park today Joe McCarthy, manager of the Kentuckians, announced that his ace, Deberry, will take the mound tomorrow. Jack Dunn's choice is expected to fall between Thomas and Barnshaw.

The two teams stand tonight in the same position as in 1921, when Louisville was the Dummens' opponent in the junior series. In that year also the teams began play at Oriole park with two games each to their credit.

The Orioles divided the next four games and then wilted, the Colonels taking the deciding contest.

Dunn declares there will be a different tale at the end of this year's fight, however. Back on their home field the Orioles are confident of subduing their opponents.

All he has to do is run to it. He doesn't dodge, he isn't concerned with the reactions of the other runners to his efforts, he need not invent new tactics for attaining his object. He just runs.

Now, football is something altogether different, for it is a succession of starts. When the ball is snapped, every player must, of course, start fast. But that is not all. After every turn and after every pause he must start again and start fast again.

At the root of the amazing success of Grange lies his ability to make each start a fresh one. Few men can break away so fast as Grange. He doesn't build up to a maximum speed; he starts at the peak. And he doesn't start at top speed once, but again and again when he is threatening a broken field.

(Tomorrow: Quarterbacks and Head-work.)

World Champions' Manager Asserts Johnson Will Show Greatest Form of Career

BY STANLEY HARRIS.

Manager World Champion Washington Senators.

Pittsburg, Pa., October 6.—I have no pitching worries as I contemplate the opening of the great struggle.

I have contended that in this series practically all will depend upon the pitching, and I figure today that Washington has a great advantage over Pittsburg in that department despite all recent reports to the contrary. Washington's twirling staff is now in fine physical and mental trim, with Coveleskie fully recovered from his back ailment, with Johnson free of his fortnight's charley-horse, and with Marberry sporting a normal arm instead of the kinked wing that has kept him on the bench for a month, our club need not worry about its slab department.

Ferguson is in fine fettle, and the team's two left-handers, Ruether and Zachary, are equally fit. Everything appears rosy.

Johnson in Great Shape. Johnson, of course, is my choice for the opening game. He is in better physical condition than he has been in three seasons, and he is better poised mentally than he was last year. Then he was handicapped by the realization that he was expected to uphold the faith in him of practically all the baseball world, and he did not pitch normally. He was still nervous when he faced the Giants a second time and took a second trouncing. But when he came back for a third shot he was himself and finished the final combat gloriously.

Regardless of what may happen in the opening game, I expect Johnson to do a deal of wonderful pitching in this series. Even though he should fail in his first endeavor, I look for him to make the National leaguers realize that he is one of the greatest moundsmen that ever graced the game.

Stan Should Be Sensation. Coveleskie also should prove a sensation. He has enjoyed a remarkable season. I am glad he is back in shape, and will say frankly that his ailment had me greatly worried. If Covey needs another day to prepare himself, Washington has in Ferguson a right-hander who is quite fit to start Thursday.

And don't think either Ruether or Zachary will be any easy marks for the Pirates. All these stories about Pittsburg being poison to southpaws may be O. K. as far as the National league is concerned, but the Washington club has a real pair of left-handers to throw into action.

Tigers Prepare for V. P. I. And Homecoming Exercises

Auburn, Ala., October 6.—(Specials.)—We're perfectly satisfied with the showing the team made against Clemson Saturday," was the way Coach Dave Morey commented on the Auburn Tiger football team when he and the squad unloaded from the Carolina campus Sunday night.

The coach was optimistic in passing a bit of optimism on the game played by the Orange and Blue, of course was taking into consideration the fact that a heavy crippler had hampered the efforts of the Plainsmen.

"Buck Spinks," Paul Turner and "Shorty" Long were a trio that was never admitted into the fray. Turner and Long did not make the trip. Carter, LaGrange lad, was given the opportunity to take part in his first conference game, holding down right end in the absence of Spinks. Carter handled his territory well and went more than a half when he was relieved by Sheridan. "Boze" Self stepped into the vacancy left by Long and turned in a good performance.

Preparation is on for the game with V. P. I. eleven next Saturday. This game will be played on the campus and will feature the annual homecoming day exercises. It is definitely known that Coach Cabbage will enter a good team against the Auburn Tigers Saturday. The Virginians have already met and defeated three foes this season, in Lynchburg college, Roanoke college and Hampden Sidney, the latter being defeated last Saturday by a 13-to-3 score that tended to show that the Gobbler eleven will be harder to contend with this year than last year when they were in Richmond in a 0-to-0 draw. While this is all true, judging from Monday's and Tuesday's workouts, Coach Morey will maintain his original plans of steady development for the stronger foes, Tulane, Georgia, Vanderbilt and Georgia Tech.

Line Play Emphasized. As week's program gets under way it appears that much emphasis will be given to line play and punting. The absence of Green from the line-up in the latter part of the game last Saturday put the kicking job on Williams.

Moriarty, as referee, former St. Mary's star, will head the officiating body when the Tiger and Gobbler eleven begin their clash. Walter Powell, of Dartmouth, will umpire and Moore, of Washington and Lee, will act as headlinesman.

BROWNS BUY TULSA PITCHER

Tulsa, Okla., October 6.—(AP)—Stuart "Lefty" Bolen, Tulsa, southpaw, has been sold to the St. Louis Browns, Business Manager Buck Friel, of the Oilers, announced today. Bolen has been with the Oilers two years, coming to the team from Arizona. The purchase price was not announced.

FOLLOW THE BALL With Robert C. Zuppke

A series of 48 articles on modern football written by the famous coach of the University of Illinois, developer of "Red Grange."

No. 4. FOOTBALL—MOARLE AND SPEED. Civilization follows the ball. The United States, oldest of the republics but youngest among the great civilized countries of the world, plays the most complex of all games: football.

Its intricacies are so numerous and so varied that unlike any other game it requires a separate coach for every position on the team if the best is to be developed in the players.

Not only is football the chief sport of intercollegiate athletic activity, but its influence on American life is incalculable, for it has taught and is teaching young men to eat wholesome, health-building food, to bathe with frequency and regularly and to sleep with their windows open.

Football is one of the great acts of sportsmanship principally because it inculcates in the players the essential sportsmanship principally because it inculcates in the players the essential quality of self-control. A man who cannot master himself cannot master others. In football you must always keep yourself under control, even when you feel an almost irresistible impulse to hit somebody and most of the time you feel just that way.

Character in Football. Football is mental exercise expressed physically—exercise that trains not so much the muscles as the courage, the perception, the judgment, the morale. The body is merely the vehicle of self-expression, just as Kreisler's fiddle or Kipling's typewriter or Sargent's brush or Paderewski's piano becomes the instrument of the musician's changes under the touch of the magic hand to a live and creative thing.

When Red Grange dodges a hand that he does not see, he instinctively is employing a power and a gift similar to de Pachmann's when he touches a piano key that he does not see. Morale is sustained courage, the measure of the quality of a man and the most valuable attribute a football player can have.

Next in importance to morale come speed. The player's muscles must be so attuned that they will do his bidding swiftly and without reluctance. No man with tight muscles can be fast. Speed is the intelligent use of energy, and energy is strength, and lack of strength lies clean and careful living which is health.

One reason why football is admirable physical and mental training is before his opponents reach it. Once because it requires coordination—in he is away with the crack of the pistant and accurate—of the muscles, the mind. The track man has of his lane any more than his feet, but one thing to do: Get to that tape Straight ahead of him is the finish selling used cars. It is a permanent part of our business. Some of our oldest and best business friends originally got acquainted with us by buying a used car. Because the used car is so large a part of our business we give special attention to the man who is in the market for a reconditioned automobile. We give special attention to the car itself. It reaches our sales room through our mechanical department. When we offer it for sale we know all about it and we tell the facts.

That's why our used cars always satisfy the buyers.

PASTOR SAVES THREE
FROM WATERY GRAVEPensacola, Fla., October 6.—(AP)— A story printed here this morning tellsof the rescue of three persons from drowning by the Rev. Dr. V. J. Rosseau, pastor of the First Baptist church. Dr. Rosseau was on the golf beach yesterday evening when he heard cries for help and he succeeded in rescuing a man named Keith, astranger from Tampa, who was fast being carried to sea.
Just a short while later Dr. Rosseau was attracted by cries for help from Mr. and Mrs. John Oeler, automobile travelers from Kansas City, who were passing through Florida.
Mrs. Oeler was rescued at the risk of the minister's own life, his husband was completely exhausted and had given up struggling."LOST PARCEL" SALE

FOR HITTING TRAINLima, Ohio, October 6.—(AP)— Henry Ford's railway, the D. T. and L., noted for its many innovations, took a new stand when it entered suit against W. C. Johnson and Son, Har-rod, for damages sustained when a milk truck owned by the latter knocked a locomotive from the rails at a road intersection. The sum of $403 is asked. It was not disclosed what happened to the truck.Stray Dogs Stampede was taken by Patrolmen C. E. Duncan and Oscar Tyson, who investigated.WOMAN SWALLOWS DEADLY POISON DOSESuffering from the effects of a deadly poison, Mrs. Louise Smith, 35, who gave a North Jackson street address, was rushed to Grady hospital late Tuesday night.According to information given nurses and doctors, she swallowed about one-half ounce of the poison.

However, she did not say whether she took the poison accidentally or intentionally.She was given treatment and later permitted to go to her home.TILES

THREE INDICTED
IN LAND DISPUTEEverglades, Fla., October 6.—(AP)—
W. G. and Harry B. and Captain
"Jim" Daniels, all of Marco, were indicted today by a grand jury in circuit court as a result of their contest with Barron G. Collier over ownership of a strip of land on Marco Island.W. G. Williams is charged with opposing an officer in the discharge of his duties. The specific offense charged against him is attempting to obtain release of a group of Marco men, who were being taken by deputy sheriffs from Marco to Everglades to answer a charge of "trespassing" on land claimed by Collier.Harry B. Williams is charged with criminal libel. He is alleged to have caused to be published libelous articles about Collier. Captain "Jim" Daniels is accused of having torn down a section of fence surrounding the Collier claims on Marco Island, with a view to entering the land and constructing a house.At the time Daniels entered the fenced enclosure, he announced he was going in order to bring about a test case to prove ownership of the land in dispute.W. G. Williams is owner of the townsite of Marco and leader of the anti-Collier faction. H. B. Williams, a former newspaper editor of Michigan, is his brother. Captain Daniels is one of the oldest settlers on the island.In its report today the grand jury commented various officials of Collier county, laying stress upon the activities of Sheriff W. R. Maynard during the last six months. The sheriff and his deputies have been preventing any attempts at homesteading on the disputed land.Department of interior officials arrived here several days ago to make a survey of the tract under dispute which, according to the anti-Collier interests, is ready to be sold through the desolate country to join the troops which established the line north of Kiffane. French and Spanish aircraft are working together for the first time.VICE SURVEY PLANNED
BY SECOND WARDERSPlans for a block-by-block survey of the second ward with a view to eliminating vice, were outlined Tuesday night at a meeting of the Second Ward Civic League, held at the school. Mrs. J. E. Andrews, well-known civic worker, is at the head of the anti-vice organization and explained the plan to the assembly.Block workers will act as guardians of the peace and will report to the league's central authority any undesirable conditions that may be found. Mrs. Andrews stated that the league plans to establish a charity center to handle vice and poverty cases and to work for their best solution.Reports on the campaign so far were to the effect that real estate men and apartment owners are cooperating with the league to locate only desirable residents in the ward and that many undesirable conditions in the downtown section of the ward already have been remedied.W. A. Hansell, chief of city construction, was principal speaker at the session, which was in the nature of a roundtable discussion. He gave a comprehensive report on sewer conditions in Atlanta, stressing the fact that conditions in the Peachtree creek and Lakeview sections should immediately be remedied. These men-ces, he said, are the worst with which the city has to deal but pointed out that conditions in numerous other sections are dangerous to health.The league voted to stand squarely behind Councilman O. G. Allen, who represents the second ward, in his movement to secure $2,000,000 in bonds for erection of the proposed new city hall.The meeting was held at the Crew Street school and Chairman J. T.
Topham presided.THIEVES GET LOOT
IN THREE ROBBERIESTheft of gold watches were reported to police Tuesday by J. E. Creech, of 223 Edgewood avenue, and Mrs.
Maud Bradley, of 143 Windsor street.
The store room of the Standard Coffee company, at 44 Courtland street, was entered by thieves early Tuesday night and a quantity of soap, hair tonic, bay rum and shaving cream was stolen, according to reports to police.Franco-Spanish Troops Joined In Riff Offensive

BY JOHN O'BRIEN.

Fez, French Morocco, October 6.— French and Spanish troops have joined forces for a drive against the Rif-fians in the eastern sector of Morocco. Simultaneously torrential rains have swept over the eastern Riff, threatening to delay military operations. The Mkon river has overflowed its banks, making the transport of food and supplies to the Franco-Spanish front difficult.A force of 10,000 men, southwest of Azir De Midar is the immediate objective of the present French advance north of Kiffane. Azir De Midar is the terminus of the railway from Melilla and is considered the key position from which the French and Spanish armies could encircle the remaining rebels.For several days operations in this area have been executed by cavalry as the region is devoid of water and would not sustain infantry movements. Many observers here believe that once Marshal Petain attains his objective he will rest in the new position until next spring, but military circles expect the marshal to try for greater victories, perhaps even to complete the encirclement of the rebels
if the going should continue good.
The sudden rains in the east undoubtedly will affect Petain's plans.The Spanish effected a liaison with the French by a brilliant surprise attack which was concluded just before the heavy downpour began. Six hundred troops were transported to Syah in trucks and before the Rifians knew what was happening the place had been seized. Another hold move gained strategically essential peaks between Afso and Hassi Ouenza for the allied armies.Spanish officers have arrived at Hassi Ouenza and Hassi Medlam in the French zone, where a division of cavalry is ready to dash through the desolate country to join the troops
which established the line north of Kiffane. French and Spanish aircraft are working together for the first time.Aged Man Near Death in Fall
On PavementHenry H. Tucker, 70, of 22 Home Park avenue, pioneer Atlantan, was carried to Grady hospital late Tuesday night in an unconscious condition from injuries received when he fell to the pavement on Ponders avenue, according to witnesses. His skull was fractured.Following an examination at the hospital physicians stated that his injuries may prove fatal.Mr. Tucker has resided in Atlanta for many years and owns valuable real estate in the business section of the city.According to H. E. Gilstrap, of 47 Ponders avenue, and Miss Ruth Moss, of 40 Ponders avenue, Mr. Tucker was walking across Ponders avenue, and stopped suddenly as if to pick up something from the street. He then was seen to topple heavily to the pavement, apparently as if overbalanced.
An ambulance was summoned and he was taken to the hospital.SUTTON WILL SPEAK

Atlanta public schools, will be principal speaker at the monthly meeting of the Atlanta Association of Credit men, October 13, in the Chamber of

ROME JUDGESHIP

Rome, Ga., October 6.—(Special.)

Edward Maddox, chairman of the state democratic executive committee and prominent Georgian, tonight declined to accept the judgeship of the Rome judicial circuit to succeed Judge
Moses Wright, who died Monday.
The place was offered him Tuesday by Governor Clifford Walker.In refusing to serve, Mr. Maddox stated that business affairs prevented him giving the office the attention it deserves, and, therefore, he was compelled to decline. He expressed deep appreciation for the tendered position and sent a message of thanks to Governor Walker.He is head of the law firm of Maddox, Matthews and Owen, one of the largest law firms in Rome. He is one of the leading attorneys of northwest Georgia. He has been connected prominently in politics throughout the state for the last several years, but never has accepted an appointment, although several have been offered to him. He managed the campaign of former Governor Joseph M. Brown."I feel that any man, who tries to fill the place left vacant by so able a man as Judge Wright, should be free to devote his entire energies to the work," Mr. Maddox said. "I
